President, South Korea Leader Talk

Chief Of Military Junta Will Request Strong U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Chung Hee Park, leader of the military junta that seized power in South Korea, opens his talks with President Kennedy today with a request for strong U.S. economic support and additional military aid.

U.S. officials said Kennedy will pledge American aid in principle and approve a plan to modernize South Korea's 600,000-man armed forces.

The groundwork for Park's meeting with Kennedy will be laid when Park confers with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Fowler Hamilton, U.S. aid administrator.

The general then meets Kennedy for the first time at a small White House lunch. Afterward, the two will talk alone through an interpreter in the President's office.

Park came to prominence last May when he and a group of fellow officers overthrew the elected government.

At first, the United States was cool to the revolutionary junta but gradually gave it increasing support as the junta attacked graft and corruption in government and undertook a series of social reforms.

In welcoming him, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said: "In the next two days President Kennedy and members of his administration will discuss with you how we in America can assist in the fulfillment of plans for the greater well-being and prosperity of the Korean people.

Park replied: "This visit affords us an unparalleled opportunity to discuss our mutual problems. We shall repay the United States and other free world allies for their support and assistance by reconstructing our nation. Doing this will enable us to fuifill our responsibilities more effectively as a member of the free world."

Democratic Bloc Claims Crisis Near

Appropriation Eyed For Second Year Of Fiscal Biennium

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Republican - controlled legislature returned to Columbus today to tackle the state's financial crisis the Democrats say is coming.

Except for a futile one - day special session Sept. 22, the lawmakers have been in recess 14 weeks.

It is anyone's guess how long they will be in session this time as they attempt to find the answer to a threatened ready cash shortage a few weeks hence and then try to agree on a state budget measure for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, dissatisfied with Republican allocations for education, mental health and welfare, took the drastic and unprecedented step last July of vetoing the entire appropriation for the second year of the fiscal biennium.

That is the reason the GOP-controlled General Assembly decided to take a recess until today rather than adjourn last Aug. 2.

Just before the gavel fell on the regular session, a Senate foulup defeated the additions and betterments bill — the appropriations measure which pays for new state buildings. Faced with the prospect of a long delay on building projects, DiSalle called a special session Sept. 22 for the sole purpose of passing the beleaguered bill, but it again was defeated in the Senate in a one-day session.

Since that time, DiSalle's finance director, James H. Maloon, has predicted a money crisis between mid-January and mid-February.

The problem is the switchover, approved by this year's legislature, from a prepaid sales tax stamp system to a sales-tax without stamps under which retailers will be allowed 30 days after a calendar month in which they collect sales tax money to make payment to the state treasury.

That could create as much as a two-month lag in receipts from the state's biggest source of revenue.

The state can ill-afford such a lag because it is running very close to the bottom of the cash barrel every month.

Maloon urged the legislature to take some step to avoid the lag, but his suggestion was ignored. Unless some legislative action is taken at the session opening Wednesday to avoid the lag, he has warned, he fears the state government's financial reputation will suffer as a result.

As previously indicated, Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, confirmed that the legislature will make no attempt to override the governor's veto of second - year appropriations. Instead, a completely new bill will be offered in the House, perhaps with some slight adjustments. At the same time, a new capital improvements bill will be offered in the Senate. It will call for rock-bottom spending of about $39 million, about the same as the two similar bills defeated earlier.

County Levies Due Another Vote In 1962

Courthouse Aides Decide To Resubmit Proposals Next May

LISBON — Another vote on two proposed levies — one for Columbiana County operating expenses and another for improvements at the County Home — is planned in May as a result of a general meeting of county officials Monday afternoon at the Courthouse.

The eight - tenths - mill levy sought for operations of county government and the seven-tenths mill levy asked for the home were rejected by county voters in last Tuesday's general election.

Commissioner Walter Hunston told the officeholders at yesterday's meeting their present requests for operations in 1962 totaled $200,000 over what County Auditor Kenneth Bell's estimates of county revenue.

Bell said he estimates the county will have $1,029,600 this year, with about $10,000 carryover from 1961. The carryover last year was $127,000.

Hunston cited the extra operating costs of recent years, including an extra Common Pleas Court, increased welfare expenses, three new county courts, the Keys Children's Receiving Home and rising general expenses.

The consensus of the officeholders was that commissioners should resubmit the two levies. Discussion was held on a special election, but it was decided to slate the vote for the May primary. A simple majority would be required.

The group also felt more time was needed to educate county residents as the dire need for these levies.

Welfare Director Robert Bycroft reported on several new laws

Santa Parade To Be Theme Of Yule Event

The theme was selected by the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee arranging the parade at a meeting Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce office. The parade is being set up by the Jaycees in conjunction with the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

Paul Seckman, chairman, said approximately 60 units have been confirmed, including 10 floats, eight bands, fire departments, marching units, antique cars, girls in convertibles and a conestoga wagon drawn by oxen.

The parade route will be the same as last year. The units will form on Bradshaw Ave. at 5:30 p. m. and move promptly at 6. They will proceed on Walnut St. to 5th St., over 5th to Jackson St., turning right onto 6th St. and back through town to Walnut, disbanding on Bradshaw.

No parking will be permitted along the parade route after 5, Seckman said.

Arrangements have been made for free parking at Westgate School and free shuttle bus service will be provided from the lot to the Diamond, Seckman said. The buses will operate from 5 to 8 p. m.

Arrangements are being made to have the Jaycee clowns perform again this year.

The parade will mark the opening of the Christmas shopping season. Special hours will be observed in the downtown stores the night of the event.

Seckman said the final planning session will follow the monthly Jaycee dinner meeting Monday at 6:30 p. m. at the Travelers Hotel.

2 May Decide Legislation's Fate In House

Smith, Democrat, And Halleck, GOP, To Head Coalition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two men other than the speaker and majority leader may decide the fate of major legislation in the House in the session starting Jan. 10.

They are Howard W. Smith, Virginia Democrat who heads the Rules Committee, and Charles A. Halleck, Indiana Republican who leads the minority.

For years Smith and Halleck have teamed up to head a conservative coalition that at times has dominated the House despite its nominal control by Democrats.

The Northern Republican-Southern Democrat coalition's chief stumbling block in the past has been Sam Rayburn, who was able on occasion to win over enough Southerners to save coalition-opposed legislation. Rayburn's success was attributed primarily to his personal popularity with his Southern colleagues.

The 79-year-old speaker is ill with cancer in a Bonham, Tex., hospital and not even his most optimistic friends expect him to return to Washington.

It is generally assumed that Rayburn will be succeeded as speaker by John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, now the Democratic leader, and that McCormack's leadership post will go to Carl Albert of Oklahoma, now the Democratic whip, or assistant leader.

Neither McCormack nor Albert has demonstrated the ability to crack the usually solid Southern lines as Rayburn did on occasion.

On at least three major issues during the 1961 session of Congress, Rayburn was credited with having saved the day for the liberals by personal appeals to some Southern Democrats.

Chester Bar Maid Fined In Violation

Patrolman Clarence Lennens of Chester pushed open the door of Pat's Tavern of Carolina Ave. and 5th St. Monday night about 10:40 and saw the amber flow of whisky from bottle to glass.

Lennens walked in, confiscated the glass in front of the customer and said to the bar maid—who had placed the fifth under the bar—"I'll take the bottle, too."

Patty Bowers of 2nd St., Chester, obligingly handed him the bottle. Shortly after midnight — after the tavern had closed for the evening—the bar maid pleaded guilty to illegal possession of liquor.

She was fined $150 and costs by Mayor Ray Collins. The bar maid had been cited and fined last month for after-hours operation of the tavern, licensed to Carl Amedeo of Railroad St.

Interim Unit For Merged School Elects

But Dispute Breaks Into Open At First Meeting Of Board

Differences of opinion within the recently - merged Southern-Franklin Local School District bounced back into the open at the organization meeting of the interim Board of Education Monday night at Highlandtown School.

The interim board — minus its Franklin area member — officially named the new consolidation Southern Local School District, hired the former Southern Local clerk and executive head and made arrangements for final state approval for a new high school.

J. B. Fergason of Salineville was named president of the board, appointed by the Columbiana County Board of Education to serve until Jan. 3, and Martin Adams of Salineville was appointed vice president.

Jack Stewart of Yellow Creek and John Ewing of Wayne, also members, were present, but John Dangelo of Franklin was absent as was the minutes book of the former Franklin Local board.

Franklin and Southern Local districts were merged by the county board in August, but Franklin residents, last week won a Common Pleas court mandamus action on a petition for an election on a proposal to merge with Carroll County districts.

The court order directed the county board to submit to the Board of Elections a petition from Franklin to determine if there is sufficient valid signatures to warrant such an election.

County Supt. James L. McBride reported he delivered the petition to the Board of Elections Monday. Should the petition prove valid, the county board would be obligated to set up an election.

As yet unclear is whether the election would be held just within Franklin or throughout the whole merged district.

Another Fire Ruins Homes In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Smoke hung heavy over Los Angeles again today while fickle winds alternately worked for and against an army of fire fighters striving to control a searing brush fire.

The erratic blaze destroyed 10 homes in Kagel Canyon, according to the U.S. Forest Service, and forced evacuation of over 300 residents from Kagel and Little Tujunga canyons 20 miles north of here.

Officials said 2,300 acres had been burned off and the fire was still out of control.

It was the second destructive blaze in a week. The first one destroyed 465 homes and denuded 14,000 acres.

Zellers Asks New Count In Village Race

Tabulation Planned Monday For Close Columbiana Result

A recount of votes cast last Tuesday for councilman in Columbiana village, in which an all-Republican Council apparently was chosen at the general election, has been scheduled Monday at 8 p. m., the County Election Board said today.

The board slated the recount after a request for a canvass of votes cast in the village's eight precincts was filed Monday by Willard Zellers, Democrat, who seeks to upset his one-vote defeat for a councilman's seat, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

The board also has scheduled a coin toss at 8 p. m. Thursday to break a tie for trustee in Wayne Township.

It also confirmed the election of four write-in candidates for Rogers Council and took steps to have the men qualify for office.

Intruder Hits Local Bakery For 3rd Time

For the third time in about three weeks, an intruder forced his way into Smith's Bakery on St. Clair Ave. Monday night or early today, but contented himself with destroying property after an unsuccessful hunt for money, police reported.

The building at 605 St. Clair was entered sometime between 6 last night and 4:45 this morning, officers said. Using the same route as in the two previous entries, the burglar opened a window on the north side of a skylight on the roof, then climbed down over the ovens, officers said.

The intruder destroyed two five-gallon jugs of flavoring, each worth $15, slashed seven 100-pound sacks of sugar and destroyed three cakes and a small quantity of paper plates, officers reported. There were signs that the business place was ransacked in an unsuccessful search for money.

In the last entry the night of Nov. 5-6, $25 was stolen.

Wellsville High Plans Use Of Language Laboratory

The Wellsville Board of Education Monday night approved purchase of a "language laboratory," a comparatively new innovation in teaching, for use in the Latin and Spanish classes at the high school.

The unit will be installed during the Christmas vacation period for use the second semester. Supt. S. E. Daw had recommended some time ago that a language laboratory be purchased but delayed making a definite recommendation on the type until he could visit other schools and inspect the various models.

The unit will be purchased from Electronic Products & Equipment Co. of Cleveland at a total cost of $2,023. The board will pay half the price while the remainder will be paid by the state and federal governments under Title 3, a program developed to push the mathematics, science and language programs in schools.

The unit will consist of an operating console large enough to serve 30 students, a special desk for the teacher, six individual glass-enclosed cubicles for students and tape recorders.

The subject being taught can be recorded on the tape and then transmitted to the students wearing earphones in the cubicles. The teacher, by use of the console, can speak to an individual student or all at once. It can be used for advanced training or to give help to a student who possibly may be falling behind.

County Levies Due Another Vote In 1962

Courthouse Aides Decide To Resubmit Proposals Next May

LISBON — Another vote on two proposed levies — one for Columbiana County operating expenses and another for improvements at the County Home — is planned in May as a result of a general meeting of county officials Monday afternoon at the Courthouse.

Intruder Hits Local Bakery For 3rd Time

For the third time in about three weeks, an intruder forced his way into Smith's Bakery on St. Clair Ave. Monday night or early today, but contented himself with destroying property after an unsuccessful hunt for money, police reported.

The building at 605 St. Clair was entered sometime between 6 last night and 4:45 this morning, officers said. Using the same route as in the two previous entries, the burglar opened a window on the north side of a skylight on the roof, then climbed down over the ovens, officers said.

The intruder destroyed two five-gallon jugs of flavoring, each worth $15, slashed seven 100-pound sacks of sugar and destroyed three cakes and a small quantity of paper plates, officers reported. There were signs that the business place was ransacked in an unsuccessful search for money.

In the last entry the night of Nov. 5-6, $25 was stolen.

Two more burglaries and a

Wellsville High Plans Use Of Language Laboratory

The Wellsville Board of Education Monday night approved purchase of a "language laboratory," a comparatively new innovation in teaching, for use in the Latin and Spanish classes at the high school.

The unit will be installed during the Christmas vacation period for use the second semester. Supt. S. E. Daw had recommended some time ago that a language laboratory be purchased but delayed making a definite recommendation on the type until he could visit other schools and inspect the various models.

The unit will be purchased from Electronic Products & Equipment Co. of Cleveland at a total cost of $2,023. The board will pay half the price while the remainder will be paid by the state and federal governments under Title 3, a program developed to push the mathematics, science and language programs in schools.

The unit will consist of an operating console large enough to serve 30 students, a special desk for the teacher, six individual glass-enclosed cubicles for students and tape recorders.

The subject being taught can be recorded on the tape and then transmitted to the students wearing earphones in the cubicles. The teacher, by use of the console, can speak to an individual student or all at once. It can be used for advanced training or to give help to a student who possibly may be failing behind.

Daw expressed hope that the Annual Canvass Set Here For Muscular Dystrophy

The house-to-house canvass has been set for next Sunday in the annual Muscular Dystrophy drive for the East Liverpool area.

More than 350 women volunteers will take part in the fund appeal from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. In addition to East Liverpool proper, the drive will cover Calcutta, Glenmoor, LaCroft and the Substation area.

Mrs. A. J. Brown is chairman of the volunteer workers. She is affiliated with Court Dunne 937, Catholic Daughters of America. Mrs. Hugh McTeague is co-chairman, Mrs. Floyd Caputo is treasurer and Miss Florence Farrar publicity chairman.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin again is serving as honorary chairman of the countywide drive, which opened Nov. 1 and will continue through Nov. 30.

Women of the Moose are in charge of another phase of the campaign — collection of funds in coin containers at business places.

Mrs. Brown said that those who make the appeal Sunday in the house-to-house solicitation will wear distinctive badges.

Showers And 57 Low For 'Spring' Weather

Spring-like showers and an overnight low of an "April" temperature of 57 marked East Liverpool's mid-November weather.

But it will be cooler tonight with a low of 34 to 39 forecast. The day's high will be less mild 45 to 50, the Ohio weatherman said.

Showers are to continue today and tonight. It will start clearing Wednesday but the cool spell will linger on.

number of individual student sections can be enlarged later to handle an entire classroom.

In other business, the board received a request from James Ferry, Daw Junior High School principal, that more teachers be hired in the junior high system. He said there are approximately 40 students in every class and only eight teachers. He asked that at least two more be hired, one for the eighth grade and the other for the seventh.

He reported he is starting to set up a special class, but that it will not do much to alleviate the overcrowding. He pointed out that the seventh grade students from Fairview School at Hillcrest had been transferred to Daw Junior High this year, adding to the load.

Earl Bake, board president, said the board was aware of the problem and feels the teachers have a just complaint. Various ways of solving the overcrowding were discussed. Ferry offered the use of his room at the school for another class.

Daw said there is a possibility of relief for the second semester, which begins Jan. 2.

The Senior Class was given permission to present a play. It probably will be held in the visual education room as the old auditorium is in need of repairs and not in condition for such events. A discussion also was held on the possibility of using the Liberty Theater building.

Miss Charlotte Grindle was hired as a secretary at the high school to replace Mrs. Ruby Henthorne Shura, who has been named the new secretary in the superintendent's office. Miss Grindle's salary will be $2,600 and Mrs. Shura's salary was set at $3,400, both for a full 12 months with two weeks paid vacation.

The board approved the transfer of four first graders from Fairview School to McKinley School to alleviate a crowded class. The students reside in the Wells Hollow area. Presently there are 35 in the class at Fairview and 19 at McKinley.

A delegation from the McKinley Parent-Teacher Association thanked the board for repairs and painting at the school, but asked that shelves be erected in the cloakrooms. Daw said the work had been ordered and that he would check on the delay.

The board tabled a request from Ted Koenig, band director, for a base clarinet costing $260 and a tuba chair costing $29.

A resolution was adopted accepting the tax rates as approved by the County Budget Commission, calling for 4.6 mills inside the 10-mill limitation, 14.4 mills outside the 10-mill limitation and reducing the bond retirement rate from 4.5 mills to 4.3 mills. The new total is 23.3 mills. Raymond Rolley, clerk, said the bond retirement rate was reduced because a sufficient excess has been built up in the fund to handle emergencies.

Another resolution was adopted thanking the public for its support in approving the renewal of a 2.8-mill levy at the general election. It passed by a 74 per cent majority.

A new entrance and doors have been constructed at Garfield School.

It was reported an irate fan had signs printed "promoting" George Lawton for football coach to replace Kenneth Woods. Lawton is an assistant coach. The signs apparently were printed after Wellsville's loss to Beaver Local. Board members said signs have proved embarrassing to both men.

Daw reported $184.21 in the sale of supplies. The money was turned over to Rolley.

Koppers To Expand Follansbee Facility

PITTSBURGH — Koppers Co., Inc. today announced that capacity of its Follansbee coal chemicals plant will be increased by 25 to 30 per cent in a major expansion program.

Work on the expansion will begin immediately, Koppers said, and some increased production will be realized within 90 days.

The expansion program, which involves the addition and installation of major new equipment such as evaporators and distillation units, will be completed in twelve months.

Steadily increasing demand for tar acids necessitated the plant expansion according to C. E. Brown, vice president and general manager of Koppers Tar Products Division.

for the Columbiana recount, $10 for each of the precincts to be recounted. He polled 723 votes to 724 for Harry Oesch, Republican, according to the official count.

If the recount confirms the final tally, it will give the village an all-Republican council to work with Democratic Mayor - elect Lee Harrold.

O'Hanlon said the board has notified the 12 candidates for Council seats of the recount application and advised them that they or their attorneys may attend.

In the Wayne Township contest, the coin toss will decide whether Dayton Day or Earl Glendenning wins the second trustee post. Each polled 60 votes to trail behind Donald Burton Jr., who received 95. Joseph A. Rowley finished with 50 and Walter Watson polled 51 in the official canvass.

O'Hanlon said final returns for Rogers Council show Glenn Baker and Wallace Swaney were elected by write-in votes to four-year terms on Council while Edward Galbraith and Everett Galbraith were named to two - year terms.

Joining Baker and Swaney in four-year terms were Glenn C. Rhodes and George W. Long, the only two candidates who formally filed for the Council seats.

The final tally showed Rhodes with 92; Long, 76; Baker, 47; Swaney, 40; Ed Galbraith, 36, and Everett Galbraith, 32.

Under a new state law, the four top candidates receive four-year terms and the next two are elected for two years.

O'Hanlon said the board has asked the four write-in candidates if they are the persons for whom the votes were cast. They must also certify they are qualified residents of the village and indicate the precinct in which they voted. The village has only one polling place.

To qualify for the seats, the write-in candidates also are required to post a $1 filing fee and file a statement of expenses required under the Corrupt Practices Act, O'Hanlon said.

The board also certified to City Council the final results of the vote on the repeal of the municipal income tax, showing an initiative ordinance to kill the tax was successful by 135 votes.

It also sent a notice to the city income tax department notifying it the certification had been sent to Council.

Repeal of the tax becomes effective Thursday with Wednesday as the final day for the tax to be deducted.

Interim Unit For Merged School Elects

The petition carries 304 names, all of persons who are residents of the former Franklin Local district.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the Election Board, indicated several days may be required to check the validity of the signatures. The board will certify its findings to McBride.

O'Hanlon said the board will make the certification in two ways —first showing the number of valid signatures on the petition as contrasted to the number who voted in the November 1960 election in the old Franklin district and then making the same comparison with the number who voted at the same time in the former Southern district.

Jack Baker, executive head of the old Southern Local district, was retained, and Mrs. Bernice Hirst, Southern clerk, was also reappointed.

Fred Johnson of Summitville, who filed the mandamus action and who submitted the original Franklin Local petition as member of a citizens' group, arrived during last night's meeting, accompanied by Edwin Jarrett, member of the former Franklin board.

Johnson later explained that he was there to be "informed on what was going on, and to prevent, if I could, any action which would be binding on the new board."

Also attending the meeting were the four winners of a write-in election for the Board of Education who will assume their duties Jan. 3 — Robert Skinner, Miss Ruth McNicol and Mrs. Betty Rhodes of Salineville and Charles Allison of Yellow Creek. Stewart was also elected to the new board.

Baker explained the interim board had done nothing "illegal," and asked where the Franklin minutes book was.

Johnson indicated he and others in Franklin had not accepted the validity of the interim board's status, adding "We may not be a member of this district."

Baker replied, "You don't have much choice." Baker said the court ruling on the election petition had not affected the status of the merged district.

John said, "I haven't come here to argue, I just wanted to keep informed." Both he and Baker smild during their exchanges, but both appeared solidly convinced of the correctness of their stands.

Jarrett reported after the meeting that Dangelo had to work last night.

Supt. McBride later commended the county board for appointing the interim board within 60 days of the Nov. 7 election, thus necessitating a write-in vote, "expressing the will of the people."

Johnson said, "I can't accept that explanation."

Skinner, board member - elect, asked for the specific dates of the AASA convention at Atlantic City, saying he felt the new board should be kept informed of upcoming programs and activities.

Meanwhile the interim board authorized Baker to visit State Department of Education officials today and Wednesday at Columbus to obtain final approval of plans for the proposd high school.

Baker indicated bids will be advertised soon, according to progress in the procedures, and contracts may be awarded in December.

In the discussion on the name of the new district, Baker pointed out it would be "sensible" to retain the present name, since state foundation funds, contracts and other legal obligations were in the Southern Local title.

Adams said any change would require repainting of school buses. Baker said he had consulted with Robert Rohe, finance director for the State Education Department, who said there was no reason why the Southern Local name should not be kept. Baker himself recommended it to avoid "legal entanglements."

The board authorized application for Title 3 payments for library books for Grades 1 to 8, mathematics books at the high school, primary typewriters, a calculator and tape recorder at the high school.

Baker was authorized to attend the American Association of School Administrators convention at Atlantic City Feb. 17-21.

The board tabled a request filed last month by Ansel Jones of Route 644 for $2 a day payment for transportation of his children to a bus stop.

Discussion was held on basketball coaching assignments and intramural games for seventh and eighth grade teams. The board agreed to meet with coaches on the matter.

The purchase of a $50, 1951 truck as government surplus was approved. The vehicle will be used for utility purposes.

theft were reported — one a case in which the same East End establishment was hit twice last night.

An intruder entered a storage room at the Econ-O-Wash Laundry on Pennsylvania Ave., owned by Paul Conkle, and took a case of assorted soft drinks. The entry was timed between 2:30 and 11:05 p. m. yesterday. The latch on the storageroom door was forced.

At 5:22 this morning, Patrolman L. E. Richard made a routine check of the laundry building and found that the door of a soft drink vending machine had been battered in an unsuccessful attempt to force it open.

Dr. Charles E. Plum, 740 Bradshaw Ave., told police at 8:30 last night that a blue suit coat, a gray sweater and the keys to the front and back doors of his home were stolen by an intruder who apparently entered while he was working in the cellar of his home between 2 and 3:30 a. m. Monday.

Dr. Plum said entry may have been made via the front door, which was unlocked.

George Bennett, 813 Chester Ave., told police Monday that two 6.70-x-15 winter tread tires were stolen from the loft of the garage at his home between Aug. 7 and last Saturday.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I restore the appearance of a felt hat that has been soaked in the rain?

A. First let it dry partially, and then press out the creases in the crown. Next, turn down the band and place the hat in some cool place away from any heat, and let it dry throughly. Then reshape the crown, and brush the hat gently. If your work has been done carefully, your hat should look as good as new.

Q. How can I test bread dough with yeast to tell whether or not it has risen sufficiently for baking?

A. Press your finger into the dough. If the impression disappears, the bread is ready for baking. If the impression remains, the bread must have more time for rising.

Q. What can I do when a bottle cap does not seal tightly because the cork or paper insert has been lost?

A. Wrap a piece of string around the neck of the bottle, at the bottom of the screw-threads. The cap will then seat on the string to make a good seal.

Q. How can I give my fountain pen a good cleaning?

A. Unscrew all the parts of your pen, and allow them to soak in vinegar for awhile. Then rinse them in a bit of lukewarm water, and your pen should be as clean as when new.

Q. How can I improvise my own smelling salts?

A. By breaking one ounce of rock volatile into small pieces, covering with eau de cologne, and allowing to stand for a few days before using.

Autoist Uninjured

HAMMONDSVILLE — McKinley Crook of Hammondsville escaped injury when his car struck a pile of dirt and then sideswiped a utility pole on Route 213 near Huygheville shortly after he left home for work about 6 a. m. today. The dirt was piled on the highway from an excavation for a new gas main and the rain apparently had extinguished the warning lights. Crook continued on to work following the mishap. He is a member of the Stanton Local Board of Education.

Office Hours Cut In Hancock Red Cross Fund Need

Citing lack of funds for operating expenses the North Hancock County Red Cross Chapter in Newell today announced a curtailed schedule of office hours.

The chapter headquarters in the Aaron Building will be open only on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 1 to 4 p. m. under the new schedule, effective Wednesday.

Further Study Set On School Bus Awards

Awarding of contracts for two new 60-passenger school buses for Beaver Local School District was postponed by the Board of Education Monday night because of the need for further study of the many and complex bids.

Eight firms submitted bids for one and both buses with varying prices, according to equipment. The bids in general ranged from $6,500 to $8,000, including trade-ins.

Interim Unit For Merged School Elects

The petition carries 304 names, all of persons who are residents of the former Franklin Local district.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the Election Board, indicated several days may be required to check the validity of the signatures. The board will certify its findings to McBride.

O'Hanlon said the board will make the certification in two ways —first showing the number of valid signatures on the petition as contrasted to the number who voted in the November 1960 election in the old Franklin district and then making the same comparison with the number who voted at the same time in the former Southern district.

Jack Baker, executive head of the old Southern Local district, was retained, and Mrs. Bernice Hirst, Southern clerk, was also reappointed.

Fred Johnson of Summitville, who filed the mandamus action and who submitted the original Franklin Local petition as member of a citizens' group, arrived during last night's meeting, accompanied by Edwin Jarrett, member of the former Franklin board.

Johnson later explained that he was there to be "informed on what was going on, and to prevent, if I could, any action which would be binding on the new board."

Also attending the meeting were the four winners of a write-in election for the Board of Education who will assume their duties Jan. 3 — Robert Skinner, Miss Ruth McNicol and Mrs. Betty Rhodes of Salineville and Charles Allison of Yellow Creek. Stewart was also elected to the new board.

Baker explained the interim board had done nothing "illegal," and asked where the Franklin minutes book was.

Johnson indicated he and others in Franklin had not accepted the validity of the interim board's status, adding "We may not be a member of this district."

Baker replied, "You don't have much choice." Baker said the court ruling on the election petition had not affected the status of the merged district.

John said, "I haven't come here to argue, I just wanted to keep informed." Both he and Baker smild during their exchanges, but both appeared solidly convinced of the correctness of their stands.

Jarrett reported after the meeting that Dangelo had to work last night.

Supt. McBride later commended the county board for appointing the interim board within 60 days of the Nov. 7 election, thus necessitating a write-in vote, "expressing the will of the people."

Johnson said, "I can't accept that explanation."

Skinner, board member - elect, asked for the specific dates of the AASA convention at Atlantic City, saying he felt the new board should be kept informed of upcoming programs and activities.

Meanwhile the interim board authorized Baker to visit State Department of Education officials today and Wednesday at Columbus to obtain final approval of plans for the proposd high school.

Baker indicated bids will be advertised soon, according to progress in the procedures, and contracts may be awarded in December.

In the discussion on the name of the new district, Baker pointed out it would be "sensible" to retain the present name, since state foundation funds, contracts and other legal obligations were in the Southern Local title.

Adams said any change would require repainting of school buses. Baker said he had consulted with Robert Rohe, finance director for the State Education Department, who said there was no reason why the Southern Local name should not be kept. Baker himself recommended it to avoid "legal entanglements."

The board authorized application for Title 3 payments for library books for Grades 1 to 8, mathematics books at the high school, primary typewriters, a calculator and tape recorder at the high school.

Baker was authorized to attend the American Association of School Administrators convention at Atlantic City Feb. 17-21.

The board tabled a request filed last month by Ansel Jones of Route 644 for $2 a day payment for transportation of his children to a bus stop.

Discussion was held on basketball coaching assignments and intramural games for seventh and eighth grade teams. The board agreed to meet with coaches on the matter.

The purchase of a $50, 1951 truck as government surplus was approved. The vehicle will be used for utility purposes.

theft were reported — one a case in which the same East End establishment was hit twice last night.

An intruder entered a storage room at the Econ-O-Wash Laundry on Pennsylvania Ave., owned by Paul Conkle, and took a case of assorted soft drinks. The entry was timed between 2:30 and 11:05 p. m. yesterday. The latch on the storageroom door was forced.

At 5:22 this morning, Patrolman L. E. Richard made a routine check of the laundry building and found that the door of a soft drink vending machine had been battered in an unsuccessful attempt to force it open.

Dr. Charles E. Plum, 740 Bradshaw Ave., told police at 8:30 last night that a blue suit coat, a gray sweater and the keys to the front and back doors of his home were stolen by an intruder who apparently entered while he was working in the cellar of his home between 2 and 3:30 a. m. Monday.

Dr. Plum said entry may have been made via the front door, which was unlocked.

George Bennett, 813 Chester Ave., told police Monday that two 6.70-x-15 winter tread tires were stolen from the loft of the garage at his home between Aug. 7 and last Saturday.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I restore the appearance of a felt hat that has been soaked in the rain?

A. First let it dry partially, and then press out the creases in the crown. Next, turn down the band and place the hat in some cool place away from any heat, and let it dry throughly. Then reshape the crown, and brush the hat gently. If your work has been done carefully, your hat should look as good as new.

Q. How can I test bread dough with yeast to tell whether or not it has risen sufficiently for baking?

A. Press your finger into the dough. If the impression disappears, the bread is ready for baking. If the impression remains, the bread must have more time for rising.

Q. What can I do when a bottle cap does not seal tightly because the cork or paper insert has been lost?

A. Wrap a piece of string around the neck of the bottle, at the bottom of the screw-threads. The cap will then seat on the string to make a good seal.

Q. How can I give my fountain pen a good cleaning?

A. Unscrew all the parts of your pen, and allow them to soak in vinegar for awhile. Then rinse them in a bit of lukewarm water, and your pen should be as clean as when new.

Q. How can I improvise my own smelling salts?

A. By breaking one ounce of rock volatile into small pieces, covering with eau de cologne, and allowing to stand for a few days before using.

If We Could Understand Nehru

It is too bad that India's Prime Minister Nehru can't stay on here for months on end. He is fascinating.

But when his listeners' eyebrows shoot up and they feel like asking, "Does this fellow really believe what he says?" he gets off some urbane remark that cuts the ground from under them. Nehru is enchanting, but he's not enchanted.

If we could understand Nehru, chances are we could understand what the West is up against in Asia, Africa and probably Latin America.

Nehru is what he is in an American view because he speaks for another world, against a different background. He represents the East that shall never "meet" the West, but he represents it at a juncture in history that makes understanding imperative.

It will not be necessary to "meet" Asians, Africans and Latin Americans, but it will be necessary to understand them. It will be necessary to develop potential areas of agreement to offset the areas of disagreement that will keep the West and East apart.

And it will be necessary first of all to understand that men who speak for the governments of the East have other things on their minds than the things that preoccupy the minds of Westerners. They never heard of our preoccupations.

Correspondents who traveled with former President Eisenhower when he visited India and Pakistan reported that millions of Indians and Pakistanis never had heard of the United States or North America. Their prime minister's cosmopolitan polish reflects the privilege of his station, not the viewpoint of his nation.

This is true of dozens of government spokesmen struggling to throw bridges of comprehension across chasms of ignorance that separate their nations from the United States. And the hardest thought for them to convey is their interest in self-preservation. They want no part of a cold war between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Ideological war has no special significance for them. It is something national leaders can debate, but it is nothing that politicians can discuss with their people. And to make doubly sure it can't be done, Communists keep busy in all unsettled countries, preaching the revolutionary creed that the old imperialism must be thrown off to make way for a new imperialism that will be benign and beneficial—the Communist Conspiracy.

Prime Minister Nehru is one of the most highly articulate men in the world. If he and his associates, like Khrishna Menon, didn't talk so much and so well, there would be no knowledge of why East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet.

But they do talk. They are fluent. They are imaginative, and they are frank. Prime Minister Nehru is in character when he wonders why we don't call a moratorium in the cold war and end it all, because as far as he is concerned it would be that simple—for us, not for him.

His problems, of course, are insoluble and will take patience. Ours could be solved by calling a moratorium. It's a delightful thought. Nehru's a fascinating man. If he stayed here long enough he'd have us so bemused we'd all talk like Indian mystics, which he is.

Be Careful!

Reports of more vandalism at the expense of parked cars reminds that there's one way to protect yourself against such thefts—don't leave items of value in your car.

It's virtually impossible to eliminate such vandalism completely, but it can be held to a minimum if car owners do their best to see that there's nothing around worth stealing.

Molotov And The Last Laugh

V. M. Molotov — Old Iron Pants — has gone home to Moscow to make his last stand.

Everybody assumes he will be shot or shipped off somewhere and that will be the end. He and Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich are headed for the last roundup; that's the idea.

The idea could be misleading. Even if these three leading figures of Stalinism are wiped out, their idea will not be wiped out—and therein lies their power.

Here is the Russian counterpart of an issue still vibrant in this country after generations of efforts to settle it. Men have come and gone, but the issue's still with us. Will freedom ring, or must we make it ring?

The Stalinists believe there's only one way to keep Communism on the move — to be belligerent about it and to destroy capitalism before it has a chance to destroy them.

STALINISTS are in control of Communist China. They are a powerful influence in the Soviet Union, though their leadership has been destroyed. They have established an outpost in Albania. They have disciples everywhere, including the United States.

Premier Khrushchev, despite his rocket-rattling, thinks more ideological flies can be caught with honey than vinegar. In his own words, "We have taken our stand and always shall take our stand on the peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems. We shall do everything to strengthen peace throughout the world."

Khrushchev would give non-Communist nations a chance to get along with the Soviet Union if they are willing to try. Molotov wouldn't give them a chance to try. He would beat them into submission. He doesn't believe in trying to make converts.

That's the difference.

Khrushchev says he would live and let live and Molotov would kill or be killed. When he comes home to Moscow to argue his case at the age of 71—and no future ahead of him—he has more than the strength of his convictions to sustain him. He has the knowledge that time bestows on old men the knowledge that ideas never die. Communism in his lifetime owes all it is to aggression. It makes no converts.

SOME AMERICANS believe the only way the free world can perpetuate itself is to destroy dictatorship. They want to make the world safe for democracy by destroying everything that threatens democracy.

Other Americans believe the United States can get along on a policy of live and let live. They try to get along with Russia as they try to get along with Spain and Yugoslavia.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Dogs crippled or killed on open roads of America run into the thousands a day. In big cities they are pretty well protected by owners but in the small towns and open spaces, pooches run loose, despite daily proof that no dog let out to roam freely is a good bet to get home alive.

Most communities have laws requiring that they be kept on home premises or on leash, but few enforce them and millions of folks, who insist they love a dog, let it out to take its own chances in traffic. Mangled bodies of dead pets are a common sight on all highways.

It seems to this column that crusades by societies for protection of animals should begin with a tough war on hypocritical pooch-owners who boast of affection for animals one moment and let them out to possible death the next.

Idea for a poster by the SPCA:

A true dog-lover is no man
Who has no pooch survival plan
And trusts the life of such a pet
Where traffic is a deadly threat;
Who lets it roam where death can spring
Upon it like a lethal thing
And leave crushed on the open road
A pal in whom life brightly glowed.

II

No kindly master is the guy
Who doesn't even seem to try
To keep a pooch from running loose
Where danger never calls a truce;
Let him remember dog's possess
A deeper love and kindliness:
May he think in an hour grim
No dog would so endanger HIM.

The War Of The Milk Bottles

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK — When finally they write the history of the 1964 presidential election, they should emboss on its cover the imprint of a quart bottle of milk.

Victor Riesel

That will remind the curious of the great Teamsters' milk delivery strike of 1961 — and how Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner gambled and won and bolstered John F. Kennedy and shook the strength of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Bob Wagner's gamble thus will have its impact on national and international affairs — a unique role, indeed, for a long drink of milk.

What happened behind the scenes of the tense milk strike, which cost $20 million, has really not been reported in full.

There was a moment, for example, during the 13 days 10 million New Yorkers were cut off from the fluid when word came to the mayor that angry farmers were organizing to truck their milk into the big town. The farmers were said to be arming themselves with shotguns.

"No one," said the usually quiet Mayor, "is going to ride into this city with guns. There is going to be peace."

AN EMPLOYERS' spokesman observed that the farmers were angry. They were getting their tank trucks ready with raw milk. They were prepared to move it into the city's pasteurizing facilities. They were losing millions of dollars.

"They are tough people," the executive said.

"Our Police Department," retorted the Mayor, "can be tougher if it has to be."

He meant it. He also meant it on the Thursday night before Election Day when he decided to put the city in the milk business — though this might look like strikebreaking.

It is not generally recognized, but Bob Wagner's action — without the flourish and fanfare of a Fiorello LaGuardia — was utterly unprecedented in the history of our land.

The mayor, with 10 million to worry about, put the city in the milk business. No other community ever has done that during a strike.

THERE WERE MANY to advise him. But few knew the infighting, the technicalities and sensitivities of the moment as well as his labor strategist, Theodore Kheel, who had a terrific assist from David Kaplan, head of the Economics of Distribution Foundation (which studies techniques of delivering bread and essentials more economically).

All this was developing during the last days of a campaign for the mayoralty, which, if lost by the Democrats, would have been evaluated the world over as a smashing defeat for President Kennedy as well as Bob Wagner.

Having decided to bring in the milk, the point was where to get it. Kaplan said there was one man who knew where every quart was. The mayor said get him. They awakened Dr. Charles Blanford, federal administrator of the milk marketing section of he Department of Agriculture.

The doctor rushed in. He assembled a force. All night they called suppliers within a 400-mile radius. City milk inspectors sped through the countryside. Certified suppliers' locations wer given to chain stores. Their trucks rumbled out deep into Connecticut, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

THIS PUT the small, independent grocers and dairies at a disadvantage. The mayor then ordered city trucks to speed up to Boston, and down to Trenton, N.J., and Philadelphia.

He set up special depots in the Bronx terminal market for the Boston deliveries and in the Brooklyn terminal market for those supplies being rushed in from the south. He paid for the milk with city funds.

Then he dispatched word for the small store owners to come and get it at cost. They came by private car and small trucks and even a wagon or two. They lined up by the hundreds.

There were cliff-hanger moments. Any second there might be violence. In upstate New York hard-boiled Teamster leaders began stopping the milk trucks.

Word flashed into town. One of the mayor's aides called New York City Teamster chief, John O'Rourke. The mayor wanted that milk to come through. O'Rourke hit the phone. The upstate Teamster leaders signaled the trucks to roll on. Out-of-town Teamsters began delivering milk through the city Teamsters still were picketing.

ONE TRUCK was hit in town. That was all. The milk flowed to the people. About an hour before midnight, the eve of Election Day, the strike was settled.

If armed farmers really had marched, if shots had been fired, if trucks had been overturned, if bottles and heads had been smashed, the mayor would not have been reelected, the experts reckon. He gambled — not only his own career but much of the President's political prestige, too.

It took courage. He has it. He used it. He succeeded. He now becomes one of the land's powerful political personalities.

It will take a lot of Rockefeller campaigning next year to overcome what Wagner won in the war of the milk bottles.

A Year To Spare

By Truman Twill

I missed this story the first time around, and it's too good to pass up.

Last Oct. 27 a Monsanto Chemical Co. reported an experiment that could make a vast difference in the lives of our grandchildren.

It learned by fooling with amino acid balances in the diets of baby mice and chickens that it could make life mark time and thereby lengthen the life span.

Baby mice and chickens could be suspended in babyhood, growing no older, then sent along the way upward of a year later. The suspended time was added to the life span, not taken away from it.

Applied to other forms of life, the discovery would make it possible to hold up development of a beef steer until the market was right, or suspend the aging of a child until hand-me-downs were ready, or a place opened up in the rolls of a private school.

Speaking more broadly, it could prolong childhood's happy hours and give doting parents a chance to do what many of them do anyway under less than happy circumstances — prolong the doting.

In a flash, I knew which phase of my childhood I wish could have been prolonged. It was the year I had the American Express coaster wagon and Glenn, my playmate, had the Big Four.

That was the happiest year of my life.

Glenn and I rode our wagons all over town. On Saturday, we took off the wheels and greased them in the "shop" underneath the back porch of our house.

We washed and and polished our wagons. We painted them. They emboided to us in our small-town innocence all the heart-thumping attributes that kids now find in zip guns and hot-rods.

Glenn's Big Four was to my American Express what a Cadillac is to a Rambler today, and it was my opinion at the time he was pushing around too much wood. I had four wheels, a wagon tongue to steer with and a slatted wagon bed with a removable railing and so did he. But he had all that extra weight dragging against his one boy-power, and besides that he had a parking problem.

My wagon wore out before my interest. The wooden wheels dried out. The spokes came loose. The steel tires came off on skid-arounds. Glenn's Big Four held up better, because it was heavier. But, it was a high price to pay for all the leg power old Glenn had used up pushing that behemoth around the block.

Sometimes we raced but mostly we cruised. He would go first, then I'd go first. Later on when we got bikes we'd ride past girls' houses, hoping something might develop. But in the wagon phase of our shared discovery that life was wonderful we had no thought for girls — only for wagon grease.

And to think if they'd held me up a year then I'd be a whole year ahead now — a whole wonderful year to watch old Khrushchev cow civilization with his cataclysmic firecracker. Oh rapture! Oh baby mice and little chic ens!

'The Time Is Now'

By David Lawrence

Heavy-Goods Industries Need Attention

"The time to begin is now," said President Kennedy the other day as he proposed that America revise its world trade policies.

David Lawrence

He also might have made this comment about the necessity of doing something right away about the rise in unemployment due to the stagnation of the heavy-goods industries of the United States.

The warning signals are up. Steel men fear a strike next year and another increase in wage costs as they face a declining market due to competition from abroad, where wage costs are low. There also is a good deal of gloom in the whole manufacturing segment of the national economy, where the bulk of the unemployed are to be found.

Will the economic advisers of the New Frontier repeat the mistakes made by their fellow "brain trusters" in the New Deal days of the 1930s when unemployment persisted, with 9.1 million still unemployed when the United States entered World War II in December 1941?

Today unemployment is running at an indicated figure of 4.9 million for the year, which is larger than the average for any year in the last two decades. In the 1930s, as now, the heavy-goods industries were neglected. Yet they were then, as they are today, the key to national prosperity.

The administration is talking about tax reform for 1963 but if it refuses to deal with the tax-depreciation problem any sooner than 1963, then a chaotic condition may result. For the confusion over tax allowances is what is holding back the progress of the heavy-goods industries.

There are also international complications ahead. Already European countries which have benefited from the growth of American investments abroad in recent years are beginning to wonder why the Washington government is proposing that American-owned companies overseas pay taxes on their earnings which could prevent their reinvestment.

The political implications of the whole situation, moreover, are becoming more pointed.

THE PRESIDENT naturally wants a victory for the Democratic party in the 1962 congressional elections but if unemployment rises, the Democrats will lose ground in Congress.

Also, if the industries of the United States find tariffs and quotas reduced and more foreign goods flowing into this country in competition with American products, there will be an upsurge of protectionist sentiment in the rank of labor in many urban centers where the Democrats have heretofore had big majorities.

It could mean the loss of a substantial number of seats and possibly the loss of the House of Representatives itself by the Democrats.

It is interesting to note that the Democratic party in 1962 will have been in control of both Houses of Congress for a period of eight consecutive years. Congress, and not the President, enacts the laws. It is beside the point for the Democrats to be blaming on the Eisenhower administration the present economic condition of the country.

During those same eight years that the Democrats were in power in Congress, the tax laws on depreciation were not overhauled as they should have been. The latest figures show that in the last six years America has been standing still in the investment of funds for new plants and the modernizing of equipment.

WHY, IN A period of population growth and such an increase in gross national product, has there been a static condition in the heavy goods industries?

Everyone knows that the only chance for industry to absorb some of the higher labor costs is by labor saving machinery. Yet the inability to put in new plant and modern equipment is costing America many billions of dollars in national growth and in corporate profits, from which the Treasury needs taxes to meet the higher defense budgets.

It is quite evident that the time to begin to tackle this problem is now. President Eisenhower's Commission on National Goals, in its report in November 1960, gave its prescription for economic growth. It called for "an overhaul of the tax system, including depreciation allowances."

PRESIDENT KENNEDY has spoken of the same thing. But, for some unexplained reason, the problem has been sidetracked, and the next session of Congress is not expected now to tackle the whole subject of tax reform, leaving it instead to 1962.

Maybe it will be a Republican House of Representatives in January 1963 which will respond to the demand of the country for action in the very field which today is producing the largest proportion of our unemployed.

Share The Loss Plan

By Robert C. Toth

Looking beyond massive nuclear attack, the federal government has coldly decided that individual Americans who survive in undamaged areas must take a back seat to keeping alive the national economy.

Insurance companies would go bankrupt immediately if they tried to pay all claims on policies which do not specifically exclude liability in nuclear war. Some 25 million to 100 million persons might be killed and 30 to 40 per cent of the industrial capacity destroyed in such a war.

To keep the companies going, because they play such a vital role in the national financial system and because their payments would be only a drop in the bucket toward restoring national solvency, they would not be expected to pay off on the policies, according to the approved government plan.

Instead, there would be "an unprecendented national policy of loss sharing" put into effect.

Through it the government would guarantee to pay, eventually, the insured losses of individuals and corporations (and perhaps even of non-insured next-of-kin). But the amount of the payment would be in proportion to what the nation could afford, regardless of the policy size.

Insurance on distant relatives and inheritances outside of the immediate family may be disallowed by the government, according to Edward F. Phelps, economic stabilization official in the office of emergency planning. The claims would be paid to national fund to meet the war losses as a whole.

Although socialistic in concept, the loss sharing plan is not aimed at providing social equity to insure that individuals come out of the war financially untouched. Its goal Mr. Phelps said, is to "support solvency and functioning of the economy on a 'going concern' basis."

The plan is part of Annex 27, dealing with economic measures, in the over-all "national plan for civil defense and defense mobilization." Agencies now are laying the foundations for implementing the over-all program in time of war.

It is based on the philosophy, according to Roland I. Robinson, adviser to the governing board of the Federal Reserve System, that "we would all be in this kettle of fish together." All who survive "would divide up the losses."

"As cruel and inhuman as the thought may be," Dr. Robinson said, "It is conceivable that the ultimate welfare of the country and the ultimate welfare of even afflicted individuals might be better served if the power of the government were used purely and cooly to restore economic solvency and if we did not try to indemnify for losses of health and ability to earn a living."

Suggestions for setting up a war damage insurance company before attack and paying off only those covered by the government owned corporation, were discarded. Among other reasons, there was no basis for setting premium costs for such insurance.

Among the dangers in the system, Dr. Robinson noted, is that undamaged areas of the nation may try to "secede" from the heavily hit regions and thus escape bearing its share of the losses. Some states may try to issue script, or temporary money, in place of Federal currency, another divisive move to be guarded against.

If you keep a can of walnuts and a jar of pimiento - stuffed green olives on your supply shelves you can make a last-minute spread with them for unexpected guests. Chop the nuts and drained olives fine and mix with mayonnaise. If there's soft cheddar cheese in the house, mash some of that in. Delicious on crackers.

If We Could Understand Nehru

It is too bad that India's Prime Minister Nehru can't stay on here for months on end. He is fascinating.

But when his listeners' eyebrows shoot up and they feel like asking, "Does this fellow really believe what he says?" he gets off some urbane remark that cuts the ground from under them. Nehru is enchanting, but he's not enchanted.

If we could understand Nehru, chances are we could understand what the West is up against in Asia, Africa and probably Latin America.

Nehru is what he is in an American view because he speaks for another world, against a different background. He represents the East that shall never "meet" the West, but he represents it at a juncture in history that makes understanding imperative.

It will not be necessary to "meet" Asians, Africans and Latin Americans, but it will be necessary to understand them. It will be necessary to develop potential areas of agreement to offset the areas of disagreement that will keep the West and East apart.

And it will be necessary first of all to understand that men who speak for the governments of the East have other things on their minds than the things that preoccupy the minds of Westerners. They never heard of our preoccupations.

Correspondents who traveled with former President Eisenhower when he visited India and Pakistan reported that millions of Indians and Pakistanis never had heard of the United States or North America. Their prime minister's cosmopolitan polish reflects the privilege of his station, not the viewpoint of his nation.

This is true of dozens of government spokesmen struggling to throw bridges of comprehension across chasms of ignorance that separate their nations from the United States. And the hardest thought for them to convey is their interest in self-preservation. They want no part of a cold war between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Ideological war has no special significance for them. It is something national leaders can debate, but it is nothing that politicians can discuss with their people. And to make doubly sure it can't be done, Communists keep busy in all unsettled countries, preaching the revolutionary creed that the old imperialism must be thrown off to make way for a new imperialism that will be benign and beneficial—the Communist Conspiracy.

Prime Minister Nehru is one of the most highly articulate men in the world. If he and his associates, like Khrishna Menon, didn't talk so much and so well, there would be no knowledge of why East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet.

But they do talk. They are fluent. They are imaginative, and they are frank. Prime Minister Nehru is in character when he wonders why we don't call a moratorium in the cold war and end it all, because as far as he is concerned it would be that simple—for us, not for him.

His problems, of course, are insoluble and will take patience. Ours could be solved by calling a moratorium. It's a delightful thought. Nehru's a fascinating man. If he stayed here long enough he'd have us so bemused we'd all talk like Indian mystics, which he is.

Be Careful!

Reports of more vandalism at the expense of parked cars reminds that there's one way to protect yourself against such thefts—don't leave items of value in your car.

It's virtually impossible to eliminate such vandalism completely, but it can be held to a minimum if car owners do their best to see that there's nothing around worth stealing.

Molotov And The Last Laugh

V. M. Molotov — Old Iron Pants — has gone home to Moscow to make his last stand.

Everybody assumes he will be shot or shipped off somewhere and that will be the end. He and Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich are headed for the last roundup; that's the idea.

The idea could be misleading. Even if these three leading figures of Stalinism are wiped out, their idea will not be wiped out—and therein lies their power.

Here is the Russian counterpart of an issue still vibrant in this country after generations of efforts to settle it. Men have come and gone, but the issue's still with us. Will freedom ring, or must we make it ring?

The Stalinists believe there's only one way to keep Communism on the move — to be belligerent about it and to destroy capitalism before it has a chance to destroy them.

STALINISTS are in control of Communist China. They are a powerful influence in the Soviet Union, though their leadership has been destroyed. They have established an outpost in Albania. They have disciples everywhere, including the United States.

Premier Khrushchev, despite his rocket-rattling, thinks more ideological flies can be caught with honey than vinegar. In his own words, "We have taken our stand and always shall take our stand on the peaceful co-existence of states with different social systems. We shall do everything to strengthen peace throughout the world."

Khrushchev would give non-Communist nations a chance to get along with the Soviet Union if they are willing to try. Molotov wouldn't give them a chance to try. He would beat them into submission. He doesn't believe in trying to make converts.

That's the difference.

Khrushchev says he would live and let live and Molotov would kill or be killed. When he comes home to Moscow to argue his case at the age of 71—and no future ahead of him—he has more than the strength of his convictions to sustain him. He has the knowledge that time bestows on old men the knowledge that ideas never die. Communism in his lifetime owes all it is to aggression. It makes no converts.

SOME AMERICANS believe the only way the free world can perpetuate itself is to destroy dictatorship. They want to make the world safe for democracy by destroying everything that threatens democracy.

Other Americans believe the United States can get along on a policy of live and let live. They try to get along with Russia as they try to get along with Spain and Yugoslavia.

They will negotiate with the Soviet Union for everything it demands. They will split all the differences the Kremlin can create, though knowing that each time they will lose something because they did not create the difference in the first place.

They will act as if they thought compromises could be made on issues of virtue as easily as compromises can be made on divisions of potatoes.

And whenever they do this they arouse the snorts and screeches of American absolutists — the Molotovs of this country.

At the moment, the absolutists are stirring. But of course in America we do things differently. We don't exile losers in political issues. We let them fade away, which is what V. M. Molotov and associates seem to be doing.—the men, not the idea.

It learned by fooling with amino acid balances in the diets of baby mice and chickens that it could make life mark time and thereby lengthen the life span.

Baby mice and chickens could be suspended in babyhood, growing no older, then sent along the way upward of a year later. The suspended time was added to the life span, not taken away from it.

Applied to other forms of life, the discovery would make it possible to hold up development of a beef steer until the market was right, or suspend the aging of a child until hand-me-downs were ready, or a place opened up in the rolls of a private school.

Speaking more broadly, it could prolong childhood's happy hours and give doting parents a chance to do what many of them do anyway under less than happy circumstances — prolong the doting.

In a flash, I knew which phase of my childhood I wish could have been prolonged. It was the year I had the American Express coaster wagon and Glenn, my playmate, had the Big Four.

That was the happiest year of my life.

Glenn and I rode our wagons all over town. On Saturday, we took off the wheels and greased them in the "shop" underneath the back porch of our house.

We washed and and polished our wagons. We painted them. They emboided to us in our small-town innocence all the heart-thumping attributes that kids now find in zip guns and hot-rods.

Glenn's Big Four was to my American Express what a Cadillac is to a Rambler today, and it was my opinion at the time he was pushing around too much wood. I had four wheels, a wagon tongue to steer with and a slatted wagon bed with a removable railing and so did he. But he had all that extra weight dragging against his one boy-power, and besides that he had a parking problem.

My wagon wore out before my interest. The wooden wheels dried out. The spokes came loose. The steel tires came off on skid-arounds. Glenn's Big Four held up better, because it was heavier. But, it was a high price to pay for all the leg power old Glenn had used up pushing that behemoth around the block.

Sometimes we raced but mostly we cruised. He would go first, then I'd go first. Later on when we got bikes we'd ride past girls' houses, hoping something might develop. But in the wagon phase of our shared discovery that life was wonderful we had no thought for girls — only for wagon grease.

And to think if they'd held me up a year then I'd be a whole year ahead now — a whole wonderful year to watch old Khrushchev cow civilization with his cataclysmic firecracker. Oh rapture! Oh baby mice and little chic ens!

'The Time Is Now'

By David Lawrence

Heavy-Goods Industries Need Attention

"The time to begin is now," said President Kennedy the other day as he proposed that America revise its world trade policies. He also might have made this comment about the necessity of doing something right away about the rise in unemployment due to the stagnation of the heavy-goods industries of the United States.

David Lawrence

The warning signals are up. Steel men fear a strike next year and another increase in wage costs as they face a declining market due to competition from abroad, where wage costs are low. There also is a good deal of gloom in the whole manufacturing segment of the national economy, where the bulk of the unemployed are to be found.

Will the economic advisers of the New Frontier repeat the mistakes made by their fellow "brain trusters" in the New Deal days of the 1930s when unemployment persisted, with 9.1 million still unemployed when the United States entered World War II in December 1941?

Today unemployment is running at an indicated figure of 4.9 million for the year, which is larger than the average for any year in the last two decades. In the 1930s, as now, the heavy-goods industries were neglected. Yet they were then, as they are today, the key to national prosperity.

The administration is talking about tax reform for 1963 but if it refuses to deal with the tax-depreciation problem any sooner than 1963, then a chaotic condition may result. For the confusion over tax allowances is what is holding back the progress of the heavy-goods industries.

There are also international complications ahead. Already European countries which have benefited from the growth of American investments abroad in recent years are beginning to wonder why the Washington government is proposing that American-owned companies overseas pay taxes on their earnings which could prevent their reinvestment.

The political implications of the whole situation, moreover, are becoming more pointed.

THE PRESIDENT naturally wants a victory for the Democratic party in the 1962 congressional elections but if unemployment rises, the Democrats will lose ground in Congress.

Also, if the industries of the United States find tariffs and quotas reduced and more foreign goods flowing into this country in competition with American products, there will be an upsurge of protectionist sentiment in the rank of labor in many urban centers where the Democrats have heretofore had big majorities.

It could mean the loss of a substantial number of seats and possibly the loss of the House of Representatives itself by the Democrats.

It is interesting to note that the Democratic party in 1962 will have been in control of both Houses of Congress for a period of eight consecutive years. Congress, and not the President, enacts the laws. It is beside the point for the Democrats to be blaming on the Eisenhower administration the present economic condition of the country.

During those same eight years that the Democrats were in power in Congress, the tax laws on depreciation were not overhauled as they should have been. The latest figures show that in the last six years America has been standing still in the investment of funds for new plants and the modernizing of equipment.

WHY, IN A period of population growth and such an increase in gross national product, has there been a static condition in the heavy goods industries?

Everyone knows that the only chance for industry to absorb some of the higher labor costs is by labor saving machinery. Yet the inability to put in new plant and modern equipment is costing America many billions of dollars in national growth and in corporate profits, from which the Treasury needs taxes to meet the higher defense budgets.

It is quite evident that the time to begin to tackle this problem is now. President Eisenhower's Commission on National Goals, in its report in November 1960, gave its prescription for economic growth. It called for "an overhaul of the tax system, including depreciation allowances."

PRESIDENT KENNEDY has spoken of the same thing. But, for some unexplained reason, the problem has been sidetracked, and the next session of Congress is not expected now to tackle the whole subject of tax reform, leaving it instead to 1962.

Maybe it will be a Republican House of Representatives in January 1963 which will respond to the demand of the country for action in the very field which today is producing the largest proportion of our unemployed.

Share The Loss Plan

By Robert C. Toth

Looking beyond massive nuclear attack, the federal government has coldly decided that individual Americans who survive in undamaged areas must take a back seat to keeping alive the national economy.

Insurance companies would go bankrupt immediately if they tried to pay all claims on policies which do not specifically exclude liability in nuclear war. Some 25 million to 100 million persons might be killed and 30 to 40 per cent of the industrial capacity destroyed in such a war.

To keep the companies going, because they play such a vital role in the national financial system and because their payments would be only a drop in the bucket toward restoring national solvency, they would not be expected to pay off on the policies, according to the approved government plan.

Instead, there would be "an unprecendented national policy of loss sharing" put into effect.

Through it the government would guarantee to pay, eventually, the insured losses of individuals and corporations (and perhaps even of non-insured next-of-kin). But the amount of the payment would be in proportion to what the nation could afford, regardless of the policy size.

Insurance on distant relatives and inheritances outside of the immediate family may be disallowed by the government, according to Edward F. Phelps, economic stabilization official in the office of emergency planning. The claims would be paid to national fund to meet the war losses as a whole.

Although socialistic in concept, the loss sharing plan is not aimed at providing social equity to insure that individuals come out of the war financially untouched. Its goal Mr. Phelps said, is to "support solvency and functioning of the economy on a 'going concern' basis."

The plan is part of Annex 27, dealing with economic measures, in the over-all "national plan for civil defense and defense mobilization." Agencies now are laying the foundations for implementing the over-all program in time of war.

It is based on the philosophy, according to Roland I. Robinson, adviser to the governing board of the Federal Reserve System, that "we would all be in this kettle of fish together." All who survive "would divide up the losses."

"As cruel and inhuman as the thought may be," Dr. Robinson said, "It is conceivable that the ultimate welfare of the country and the ultimate welfare of even afflicted individuals might be better served if the power of the government were used purely and cooly to restore economic solvency and if we did not try to indemnify for losses of health and ability to earn a living."

Suggestions for setting up a war damage insurance company before attack and paying off only those covered by the government owned corporation, were discarded. Among other reasons, there was no basis for setting premium costs for such insurance.

Among the dangers in the system, Dr. Robinson noted, is that undamaged areas of the nation may try to "secede" from the heavily hit regions and thus escape bearing its share of the losses. Some states may try to issue script, or temporary money, in place of Federal currency, another divisive move to be guarded against.

Man In Attack Held To Court

Edward H. Keener, 37, of 1041½ Riverview St., was bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury at a preliminary hearing Monday night before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

The city man entered a plea of innocent to a charge of felonious assault alleging he struck a Georgetown woman in the jaw with a hammer late Saturday night at the parking lot of the Cactus Bar on Route 30 near Chester.

The assault complaint was filed by Vera Guerco, who was struck in the face by a hammer wielded by Keener, the charge alleges.

Keener apparently intended the blow for her sister, Lois F. Garrett of Georgetown, who dodged, Hancock County sheriff's deputies said.

Keener was bound to the January term of court under $1,000 bond, and placed under $500 peace bond in connection with a complaint filed by Lois F. Garrett that he threatened her, the squire said.

Keener was arrested at 5:45 a. m. Monday at his home by East Liverpool police and signed waivers of extradition at a hearing in Municipal Court.

Squire Herron also fined Hugh Bird of Kings Creek, Weirton, $50 and costs for carrying a concealed weapon, and his wife, Viola Bird, $10 and costs for assault and battery. They were arrested Saturday night by sheriff's deputies.

James L. Pike, 24, of Columbiana and Harold Woodcock, 57, of Niles, forfeited $16 bonds when they failed to appear for hearings on charges of hazardous driving filed over the weekend by New Cumberland Police Chief William Webster.

3 Fund Drive Divisions Top Goals

Three divisions in the Community Fund campaign were honored Monday as being the first to go over the top at a luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

Exceeding their quotas were the Professional, Public Affairs and Public Service units. They were the first of the 10 divisions to do so.

Richard Emmerling, campaign chairman, reported overall receipts to date have reached $58,407, 75.1 per cent of the $77,600 goal.

Cari Werner, campaign secretary, reported the Professional Division had turned in $3,110, topping its quota by $10; Public Affairs reported a total of $2,643, exceeding its goal by $43, and Public Service brought in $32 more than its $2,000 quota.

Emmerling termed the luncheon citations "a means of thanking publicly the 78 volunteer workers who served with these three division leaders and the donors who responded to their solicitations. It is impossible to thank each individually, but all of us are most appreciative of their efforts. Now, we are looking forward to making similar announcements when the other seven drive divisions achieve their respective quotas. Only then can we claim a real victory".

Twenty-three workers served in the professional unit which contacted doctors, dentists, attorneys and ministers; another 15 in the Public Service Division, which solicited gifts from employes in telephone, gas, electric, transportation and radio firms; the Public Affairs group canvassed employes in schools, hospitals, library, post office and city, county and federal offices. Forty volunteers in the last-named group brought the total to 78 workers in the three divisions achieving their quotas.

At the conclusion of yesterday's meeting, Emmerling again urged all divisions to submit reports promptly at Community Fund headquarters in the YMCA.

Vote Expense Lists Entered

Atty. Donald E. Smith, Republican candidate for city solicitor, said he spent $221.89 in his unsuccessful bid for the office at the Nov. 7 general election, according to the sworn statement he filed with the County Election Board.

Four other East Liverpool candidates and five from Wellsville have filed the expense statements required under the Corrupt Practices Act, Frank R. O'Hanlon, election board clerk, said. The deadline for submitting the statements is Dec. 22 at 4 p. m.

George E. Willshaw, Republican, who was named to an at-large seat on Council, listed $57 in expenditures while Robert W. Sample, a runningmate, said he had no expenses.

Ruby Lacey, one of three women to seek a seat on the Board of Education, reported she received $13.50 and spent $8.80 in her campaign while Postmaster Samuel W. Brown, incumbent who was defeated, said he had no receipts or expenses.

The Wellsville candidates include Charles W. Stewart, re-elected treasurer, $36.72; Mary C. Rahter, Democrat, returned as Council president, $2; Robert E. Taggart, Democrat, for Council-at-large, $3.75; J. Frederick Russell, Republican who sought the Council presidency, none, and Atty. William L. Bush, Republican unopposed for solicitor, none.

Probate Judge Louis Tobin said he would need approximately $6,000 more this coming year for transfer of mental patients under a new law which requires appointment of an attorney if a patient requests it. He said the court must make an investigation and return the patient after a three-month period in any mental hospital for another hearing.

The group also criticized state legislators for making these new laws without advising the county how to get the money to operate the new functions.

A committee, Judge Tobin, Prosecutor G. William Brokaw and Auditor Bell was named by Commissioner Hunston to prepare a statement showing the financial picture of the county offices.

This will be presented to voters, clubs and organizations throughout the county, with the request that all officers campaign before the May election.

They also hope to get officials of other counties to go with them to Columbus to see what can be done to help in the pinch.

It was explained that even if the levies pass in May, the county will not be able to collect the revenue until the last half of 1962, so the department heads were notified that they would have to cut. The only way most officeholders said they could cut would be in salaries or personnel, as that is the biggest item in their budgets.

The three courts, two Common Pleas and Probate, can demand their requested budget and it must be given to them, and the commissioners cannot give an exact figure at present time of what percentage the other office holders will have to cut. This will also be determined by the committee, but it was estimated that it would be 20 to 25 per cent.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said that if he has to cut this amount, he would have to close his office about 12 hours each day.

Other officeholders made no comment on what they anticipated or how much they would cut.

Mrs. Sidney C. Porter Jr., program chairman, led a general discussion following the performance during which the group elaborated on qualities for popularity, school cliques and the need of security with friends.

Mrs. Paul Davis, conducted business. Mrs. Roger Green read the minutes. Westgate and Lincoln Schools had the largest representation.

Mrs. Davis reminded the delegates of the contributions of the school groups to help bring an outside speaker to the meeting April 9. The list of those who have donated was read.

Dr. Richard Kerckhoff of Detroit, leader of the Merrill Palmer's Community Organization and Development Program, will speak on "Strengthening the Home — Source of Our Nation's Greatness."

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by Mrs. John M. Roberts, social chairman.

There will be no December meeting. Supt. Ralph Betts will present a program on "New Ideas In Education In East Liverpool" for the session Jan. 8 at the library.

Council Asks New Vote On Lisbon's Levy

LISBON — Council Monday night decided to resubmit the 3-mill levy for village operations at the May primary because of the need of funds.

The levy, designed to produce about $16,000 annually for a three-year period, was defeated in last Tuesday's election, 724-648, with only one precinct approving.

The measure will require only a majority under a state law covering fiscal issues, other than those in school districts, which are submitted on primary dates in even-numbered years.

Mayor Dean Stockman also appointed Councilmen Fred Steele, Joseph Dornon and Raymond Dixon to investigate the possibility of a village income tax.

In other business, Paul Kuhns, member of Board of Public Affairs, said the cost of a storm sewer from Spruce St. to Sherman St. will be $1,125. The village is asked to assume half of the cost, or $562.50.

Mayor Stockman referred it to the finance committee to determine if funds can be provided.

A pumper fire plug replacement was purchased for the water department at a cost of $250 with hopes the insurance company will reimburse the village for the damaged plug.

A new schedule for fire truck use was adopted. Effective Jan. 1, it calls for a $6 hourly rate and $9 per day for firemen, plus meals, and 8 cents a mile travel for calls out of the village.

The request of the Lions Club that the village relinquish its rights to land now being used by the club near Willow Grove Park was held over until the next meeting.

Dixon reported on material needed to repair the Willow Grove swinging bridge across Beaver Creek but no definite action.

A discussion on lowering yearly fees for pinball machines was held but Council feels that the current rate of $250 per year is not excessive and refused to make any changes.

A film, "Continued Search," was presented by the Ohio Gas & Fuel Co. by Courtney Pennell, manager of the Lisbon office. A letter from the company said there would be no advance in gas rates during the period Dec. 1 through Feb. 28.

Next meeting is Nov. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

Farm Women's Council To Hold Achievement Day

The Hancock County Farm Women's Council will hold an "Achievement Day" program Wednesday, beginning at 10 a. m., at the Fairview Grange Hall in Pughtown.

The council directs the activities of the 10 county Farm Women's Clubs with a membership of 176.

Featuring the program will be the presentation of awards to all 24-year members, and election of new officers for 1962.

Recognition and awards will be given to clubs with 100 per cent project completion, attendance at council meetings, window displays and news stories, according to Mrs. Ruth McPherson, county 4-H Club agent.

County committee chairmen will present brief reports.

Projects will be exhibited by members. A coverdish dinner will be served. The Oakland Club will lead devotions.

Mrs. Floyd Grimes of the Oakland Club near New Cumberland is president.

A fine of $100 and costs handed Raymond (Sarge) Franklin Monday morning in Municipal Court was suspended yesterday afternoon by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after he learned Franklin could enter an Akron mission.

The judge suspended the fine after conferring with the Rev. Kenneth C. Steen of the Community Rescue Mission here, who took Franklin to Akron this morning.

Franklin was arrested on an intoxication charge for the "umpteenth" time Friday night, less than a day after he had been released from County Jail where he had "laid out" a similar fine.

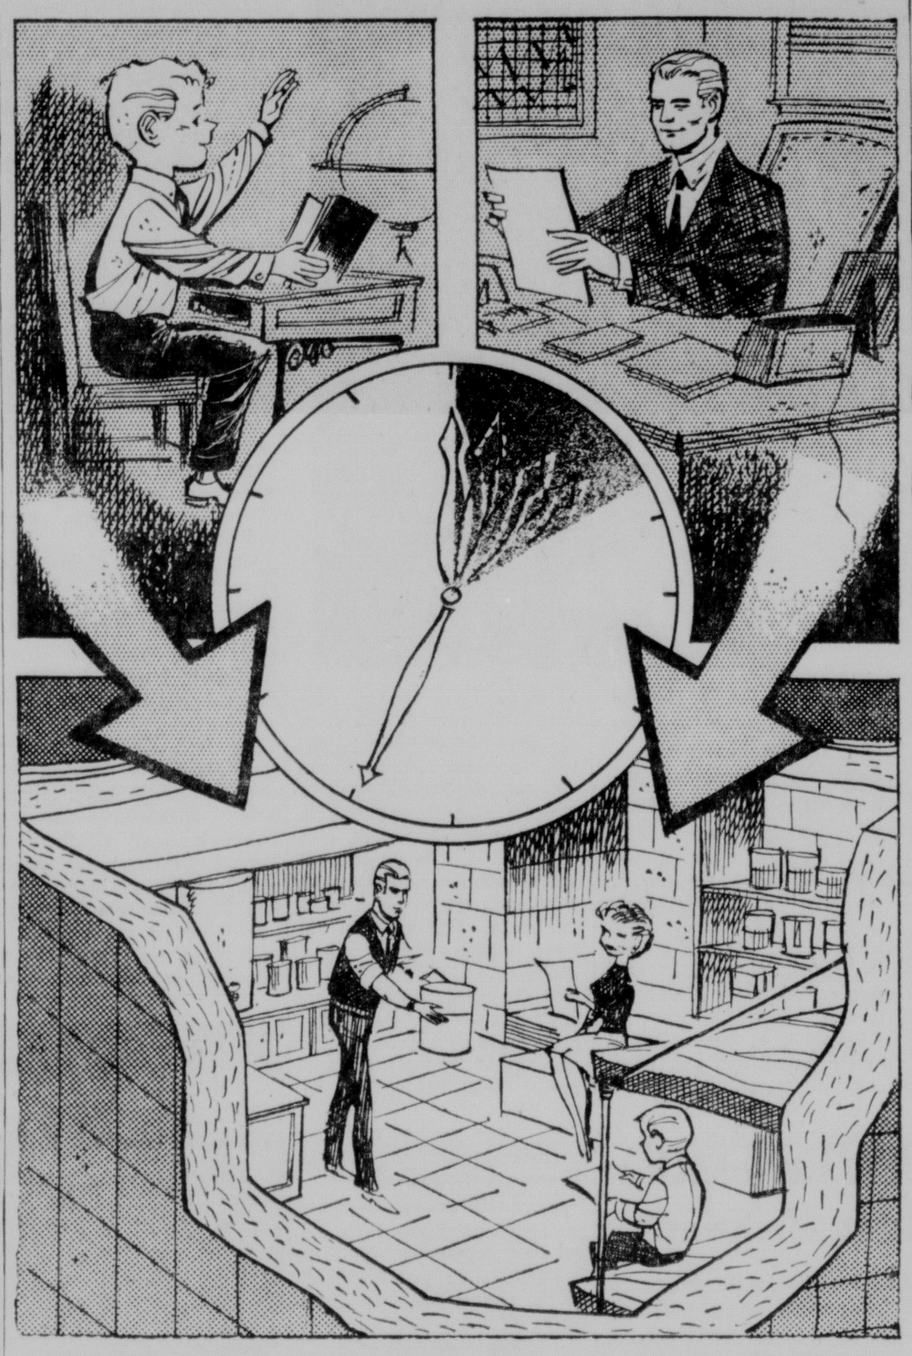
You Can Survive Atomic Attack

If Family Is Scattered, What Then?

By PROF. WILLIAM F. LIBBY



It is night; families are sleeping.

It is a weekday, children at school, husbands at work, wives at home or shopping.

Secretly, rocket missiles are fired and 30 minutes later they strike.

Of what use then, many people ask, is a family fallout shelter: Some give this doubt as a reason for doing nothing.

But the fact is you have one to several hours to assemble your family, to have your children run home from school, unless you are in the immediate blast area. Neither you nor I can predict whether we will be right under a bomb, and so have relatively little or no chance at all.

If children are in school, should they really run home if the locality has not been severely damaged, or is some distance from the blast?

MY UNEQUIVOCAL answer is, YES, provided you have a fallout shelter at your home. The really shocking fact is that practically no schools in the land have provided fallout shelters. Children have no place else to go but home, or to public shelters. Distraught parents would be wondering whether they were safe.

Many hospitals have done little more than schools about shelters for their patients.

School fallout shelters are urgently needed. School basements, or shelters beneath playgrounds, would offer a haven. Such facilities might be used normally for play, for clubs, for school activities, or community activities.

Husbands whose jobs are near enough to their homes could get home also in a majority of circumstances.

In big cities, where mass movements would jam up commuting, most men should seek shelter in their factories or offices, or in public shelters. Delays in trying to get home might find them caught in the open. But everyone has to judge for himself.

THE ODDS are very strong most of us shall have warning of an impending attack. Memorize the Civil Defense siren signals, which could wake you at night, or give added time by day for reaching or final checking of your shelter preparations.

A steady siren tone lasting three to five minutes means an attack is believed imminent, and you should be ready for the blast and heat — early direct radiation effects.

Three minutes of warbling sound, or short series of blasts of the siren, means attack is due any moment, and you should take cover.

Remember, if you are some distance from the center, you have a fair amount of time to think and act intelligently before intensive and dangerous fallout can ever arrive.

You have a greater chance of being on the fringes, with the possibilities of completing preparations, than of being directly under the center of the explosion.

Many or even most of us tend to think — and some with real justification — we are living in prime target areas.

It is an enemy who will be choosing those targets. His errors in aiming, or defensive actions, can put the center of an explosion somewhere else than over your head, no matter how prime a target you consider your city or neighborhood.

The girl declined to give up her child for adoption after she became pregnant when 15 from a boy the court sent to the Boys Industrial School.

Bow Renews His Attack On 'Free Trade'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Frank T. Bow, Republican of Canton, Ohio, said Monday that to open the U.S. economy to foreign competition as advocated by a Kennedy administration official would mean the destruction of some American industry and jobs.

"If you work in the pottery industry, you know that the doors and windows of your economy were thrown open years ago and the chill blast of cheap competition already has frozen you out," Bow declared.

He said in light of a recent speech by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and other "free trade speeches," millions of Americans should be asking themselves if their jobs are expendable.

Ball said in a New York speech that lessening restrictions on foreign trade may require federal aid to domestic industries "which cannot stand up to foreign competition."

Soviet Fishing Fleet Seen Challenge To U.S. Defenses

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's growing and far-ranging fishing fleet poses an "overt challenge to our defenses," says a semi-official publication on naval affairs.

An article in the November issue of "United States Naval Institute Proceedings" also contends the Soviet fishing fleet is an economic threat to Western nations by cutting down on the amount of fish the Soviet Union imports from them.

These are the views of Bernard M. Kassell, a retired U.S. Navy commander who reads Russian and told a reporter he gets much information by studying Soviet publications.

The "Procedings" is the publication of the United States Naval Institute, an organization of Navy, Coast Guard and Marine officers. Its headquarters are on the campus of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Although the publication disclaims any official connection, it prints articles only after they have been approved by a board of control headed by Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations.

Kassell's article appeared a few days after a stir was caused by the appearance of a large fleet of Soviet trawlers and other fishing vessels in international waters off the Massachusetts coast.

"Reports from sources in the West, including those attributed to the U.S. Navy, indicate that there are from 200 to 400 such ships always at sea in strategic areas," the article said.

"Add to this number the countless fishing craft shuttling back and forth through strategic waters, and the picture becomes a disturbing one, particularly to nations bordering on the Baltic Sea."

Kassell suggests these fishing craft are capable of mining strategic waters. He quotes an unidentified Danish official as voicing concern that the Russians could land a sizable force from such craft.

Nixon Urges Strategy To Counter Mr. K

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This country needs a strategy of victory to counter Nikita Khrushchev's strategy of demand, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said at a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner Monday night.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wasn't at the Cow Palace—where the 1956 Republican ticket was born—but he sent a message.

"This is the time to lay aside divisive talk about 1964," he said, "and to concentrate upon the challenge of 1962."

Nixon's advice was beamed at President Kennedy and Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, whose job he hoped to capture next year.

Nixon spoke out against "a psychology of fear almost approaching hysteria" which he said is building up in America in the wake of the 50-megaton bomb, the dangers of fallout and crises such as Berlin.

Bow Renews His Attack On 'Free Trade'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Frank T. Bow, Republican of Canton, Ohio, said Monday that to open the U.S. economy to foreign competition as advocated by a Kennedy administration official would mean the destruction of some American industry and jobs.

"If you work in the pottery industry, you know that the doors and windows of your economy were thrown open years ago and the chill blast of cheap competition already has frozen you out," Bow declared.

He said in light of a recent speech by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and other "free trade speeches," millions of Americans should be asking themselves if their jobs are expendable.

Ball said in a New York speech that lessening restrictions on foreign trade may require federal aid to domestic industries "which cannot stand up to foreign competition."

C. Of C. Plans Yule Activity For Midland

Plans are progressing for Christmas activities of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, including Santa's arrival and a parade Friday evening, Nov. 24, when streets decorations will be turned on.

Youth groups have been invited to enter floats and still may obtain float material by contacting Paul McGeehan, Chamber secretary, at the McGeehan Agency on Midland Ave.

Some $100 will be divided among float winners as prizes. Treats will be given children in the fire station when they visit Santa following the parade. Howard Nophsker is in charge of the treats.

Soviet Fishing Fleet Seen Challenge To U.S. Defenses

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's growing and far-ranging fishing fleet poses an "overt challenge to our defenses," says a semi-official publication on naval affairs.

An article in the November issue of "United States Naval Institute Proceedings" also contends the Soviet fishing fleet is an economic threat to Western nations by cutting down on the amount of fish the Soviet Union imports from them.

These are the views of Bernard M. Kassell, a retired U.S. Navy commander who reads Russian and told a reporter he gets much information by studying Soviet publications.

The "Procedings" is the publication of the United States Naval Institute, an organization of Navy, Coast Guard and Marine officers. Its headquarters are on the campus of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Although the publication disclaims any official connection, it prints articles only after they have been approved by a board of control headed by Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations.

Kassell's article appeared a few days after a stir was caused by the appearance of a large fleet of Soviet trawlers and other fishing vessels in international waters off the Massachusetts coast.

"Reports from sources in the West, including those attributed to the U.S. Navy, indicate that there are from 200 to 400 such ships always at sea in strategic areas," the article said.

"Add to this number the countless fishing craft shuttling back and forth through strategic waters, and the picture becomes a disturbing one, particularly to nations bordering on the Baltic Sea."

Kassell suggests these fishing craft are capable of mining strategic waters. He quotes an unidentified Danish official as voicing concern that the Russians could land a sizable force from such craft.

Nixon Urges Strategy To Counter Mr. K

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This country needs a strategy of victory to counter Nikita Khrushchev's strategy of demand, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said at a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner Monday night.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wasn't at the Cow Palace—where the 1956 Republican ticket was born—but he sent a message.

"This is the time to lay aside divisive talk about 1964," he said, "and to concentrate upon the challenge of 1962."

Nixon's advice was beamed at President Kennedy and Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, whose job he hoped to capture next year.

Nixon spoke out against "a psychology of fear almost approaching hysteria" which he said is building up in America in the wake of the 50-megaton bomb, the dangers of fallout and crises such as Berlin.

U.S. Urged To Inaugurate Global Education Programs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The United States was urged today to inaugurate "bold, imaginative, massive and costly" programs of international education, conceived along a broad front and involving tens of thousands of persons.

Five university officials said such programs on behalf of foreign students and foreign universities "will most probably bring greater results per dollar of expenditure than some of our direct aid programs."

A study group headed by Dr. Harry R. Wellman, vice president of the University of California, outlined its conclusions in a report to the annual meeting of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges and State Universities.

"The need is urgent," the report said, "to understand more about the emerging nations, not as potential allies or enemies in some war that should not happen, but as potential markets, as sources of raw materials and, above all, as groups of human individuals who have interest and challenge in their own right."

The report noted that "the leaders of the smaller and poorer emerging nations will for some time be educated abroad. It is important that as many as possible be educated in the United States."

The group also warned: "We will err grievously if we conceived of our foreign educational activity in terms of transplanting American political ideology."

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: In the past six years I have demonstrated the temerity, or the innocence, to dispense advice on every imaginable type of problem — both in the newspapers which carry my column and through the mail.

I am not so foolish or so naive as to pretend to know all the answers. Nobody could. Had I been blessed with the wisdom of the prophets, I could not pull out of my hat the solution to all the problems put to me in a single day.

But when I don't know the solution, I never hesitate to call on an authority, in whatever field the problem may be, in an attempt to provide my readers with the best possible answer.

I believe in the advice I give because I know it is carefully weighed and measured—although at times the light touch may betray the hours of research.

Recently a Michigan mother asked if she and her husband should spend $800 on a recreation room, or if they should build a fallout shelter instead. I consulted the experts and read bales of material on the subject. The key question, "Will a shelter do any real good?", has not been answered — at least not to my satisfaction.

SOME AUTHORITIES claim that if a nuclear war should be unloosed on the world there would be no place to hide. They point out that in August 1945 a single American plane dropped a single atom bomb on Hiroshima. It killed an estimated 100,000 people.

In 1952 the United States carried out a test in the Marshall Islands. We exploded an H-bomb of 15 megatons. It vaporized a 12-mile island and left in its place a hole in the ocean floor one mile long.

That single 15-megaton bomb was equivalent in explosive force to 15 million blockbusters. Today the Russians are talking in terms of a 100-megaton bomb.

Others claim that the nuclear war would last less than 24 hours — that 90 per cent of the population could be saved with adequate preparation, that survivors could come out of the shelters within 10 days, "wash things off" and go on living.

To me, however, the most persuasive of the experts are those who refuse to make flat statements on either side. They say, "There are many imponderables. It depends on the enemy's target, possible aiming errors, size of the weapon, type of burst, weather conditions, and the possibility of interception or advance warning."

MANY READERS — among them scientists, teacher, clergymen and political experts — have denounced fallout shelters as a racket.

One reader said, "It's the lousiest fraud ever perpetrated on a nation of sheep." Hundreds of readers damned the shelter builders for cashing in on the greatest scare in the history of mankind.

On Oct. 8 I advised the Michigan family to build a fallout shelter. In the light of all the evidence I could gather on both sides of the question, I would do so again.

I would do so because I feel that the race should not allow itself to commit mass suicide. We must make an effort, no matter how slim the chances of survival may seem, to save ourselves and our young children.

I BELIEVE in this advice but I wouldn't take it myself.

I wouldn't take it because I have no desire to survive in a world of maimed and sick people. Nor would I wish to be confronted with the decision of whether to shoot my neighbor if he tried to get into my shelter because he had none of his own.

I would prefer to stay above the ground and try to live each day with dignity — and take whatever comes.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Clawless Wolves

Wedded Romeos Listed

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the things that keeps girls on their toes in the average business office today is the married Romeo.

He sometimes keeps them on the run, too.

No office is without a married Romeo; most have several. But they add more comedy than menace to the Poor Working Girl's life, as generally they are merely would-be wolves who long ago have lost their claws.

Office Romeos can be divided into four general types: Pinchers and patters, creepers and leapers. But each one is a character in his own way.

Winded Wilbur — He asks his secretary to stay late. Then he closes the door and pursues her around the office 12 times, leaping desks like a broken-field runner. Finally he pauses, puffing heavily and says, "Well, I guess that will be all for tonight, Miss Winfield. Please be in on time tomorrow morning. We have a lot more work to catch up on."

Cry Baby Bobby — "We're all lonely prisoners in a lonely world. Life is but a jail," he whines, wheedling each girl in turn for a comforting kiss. This little boy blue isn't looking for romance. He just wants a dozen more mothers.

Oily Oliver — "Be nice to me, kid," he says, "and I'll see you go places in this firm." This gives the girls a big laugh, as Oliver has been with the firm 25 years and hasn't been able to get any place himself.

Treat and Trick Ted—He believes one good turn deserves another. He doesn't mind splurging on a box of chocolates for his secretary at Christmas, so long as she allows him one free pinch for each piece of candy.

Ambushing Arnold—He hides in the supply room and pounces at any unwary stenographer who comes tripping in for a packet of paper clips. The older girls are wise to him. They go to the supply room only when Arnold is out to lunch.

Light-fingered Larry — The fatherly type. As his arm gently steals around a girl's waist—pat, pat, pat—he tells her, "Here are some new snapshots of my grandson. Isn't he a fine-looking lad?"

Big Shot Bert—The firm's top salesman is as expansive as an accordion. "Baby, go out with me, and you'll travel first class—anything from cavair to champagne," he says, pulling out a wallet that contains two $1 bills and 27 credit cards.

Lunar Lew—The full moon does something to him. Then every girl in the place looks like Marilyn Monroe to him. The rest of the time he is as harmless as bunny rabbit.

Pleading Paul—"My wife simply doesn't understand me," he weeps, using the oldest line in the book. His real trouble is that every girl in the office does understand him.

Leo the Leech—"his wife gives him only $2 a day. Leo's idea of romance is to sweet-talk any available secretary into taking him out for two martinis and a big lunch. On the way back he gives her a big squeeze—and a large IOU.

Bug-eyed Ben — Instead of watching the clock he watches the girls. He doesn't say anything to them—just leers and leers and leers. Every girl secretly thinks he is the biggest creep in the place.

Anniversary Abner—The senior vice president feels one of the privileges of seniority is to kiss every girl in the office on his birthday. That's why, on his birthday, there is no one around to take dictation. All the girls stay home.

There they are—the clawless married wolves every secretary knows. She also knows another thing: If, just to tease them, she pretended to respond to their antediluvian overtures they'd run for shelter like the frightened mice they are.

Casals' Charm On Cello Echoes In White House

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second time—in a span of 57 years—the charm of Pablo Casals' cello echoed in the White House.

For the 84-year-old, world-renowned musician, it was another of many triumphs.

Leaders of the music world, invited to hear him, viewed the performance as a triumph, too, for President Kennedy who had made the rare performance possible.

The emphasis was on music and a salute to the arts as Casals performed in the glittering East Ballroom after a formal state dinner honoring Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico.

"I thought it was marvelous. I was deeply moved by the entire occasion—not simply by the music of Casals but by the company in which it was played," said composer-conductor Lenoard Bernstein.

Bernstein, conductors Leopold Stokowski and Eugene Ormandy and composers Gian Carlo Menotti and Aaron Copland were among the many representatives of the music world included among the 153 distinguished guests the Kennedys invited to the dinner.

Introducing Casals, President Kennedy cited the Spanish-born cellist as a man who has demonstrated in his own life that "an artist must be a free man."

Casals, in a moral protest against the dictatorship of Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain, has refused to play in public in any country which recognizes the Franco government. He has made himself an exile from the land of his birth.

Although the United States recognizes Franco, Casals accepted Kennedy's invitation to play a return engagement at the White House where he last performed in 1904, during Theodore Roosevelt's administration.

Roosevelt's daughter, Alice Longworth, who was present at the 1904 concert, attended Monday night.

Casals is a close friend of Governor Munoz Marin and now lives in Puerto Rico.

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Two questions were voted on Monday night at a public meeting of the Athens County Democratic Executive Committee. Those attending voted 135-10 to urge Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to reconsider and run for a second term, and 142-6 in favor of DiSalle's legislative program.

Exercise Benefits Overweight Youngsters

"It's never fun to be a fatty, but it's worse when you are young," is the gist of the letters from unhappy adolescent girls. Since so many of these letters come to your dietitian, I talked with Dr Felix Heald who is head of the adolescent clinic at Children's Hospital. This column is a continuation of yesterday's story.

Ida Jean Kain

The problem of course is to alter energy balance so that stored fat will be drawn upon for part of the fuel needs. But adolescence is a time of growth and the need for protein and minerals is greater than at any time in life.

On a too restrictive diet, the youngster will burn fat and protein. This brings a weight loss, but it is not all fat loss, the doctor explained.

AT THIS CRITICAL age it is of vital importance that the reducing diet furnish optimum amounts of all the protective nutrients needed for building and growth.

What is the answer to safe reducing for these adolescent fatties? "More exercise is the most important single step the adolescent overweight can take," the doctor emphasized.

Dr. Heald was formerly at the Children's Medical Center in Boston where researchers found that sedentary habits are the key to the plight of overweight teenagers. Lean adolescents, it was pointed out, actually eat more calories than the fatties. The vital difference is that lean youngsters use their food energy, while fat ones are inordinately inactive.

It's a mistaken notion that exercise always increases the appetite. The overweight youngster will eat heartily, exercise or no. With physical exercise, the food is burned for energy and the youngster feels peppier and happier.

What can the parents of an obese adolescent young lady do? Put her in the hands of a good medical man, or take her to a teen-age clinic. Do not ask the doctor to prescribe an appetite depressant pill.

On your part, stop harping about weight - reducing and food. Prepare three balanced meals a day, but plan less fattening fare. Calories can be curbed through smaller portions.

Dr. Heald sees so many of these unhappy overweight youngsters that he was not optimistic about the success of weight reduction during adolescence — until we talked about the value of increased exercise.

From there he told me of the excellent results achieved at Seascape, a supervised summer camp where obese girls from 12 to 18 reduce and stay reduced. There the girls eat to build slimness and change their food habits. The activity program is fun—swimming, water skiing, volley ball, tennis and the like.

TO THE OVERWEIGHT youngsters reading this column, let me say this: If the obese girls can reduce at camp, it can be done. This is a great challenge.

With your doctor's supervision and your mothers loving cooperation, you can eat to beat the pounds, exercise to step up calorie burning and look and feel like a new girl. This dietitian knows from the many wonderful letters that it can be done!

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for "Teen - Age Challenge" and 'Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Casals' Charm On Cello Echoes In White House

Exercise Benefits Overweight Youngsters

"It's never fun to be a fatty, but it's worse when you are young," is the gist of the letters from unhappy adolescent girls. Since so many of these letters come to your dietitian, I talked with Dr Felix Heald who is head of the adolescent clinic at Children's Hospital. This column is a continuation of yesterday's story.

Ida Jean Kain

The problem of course is to alter energy balance so that stored fat will be drawn upon for part of the fuel needs. But adolescence is a time of growth and the need for protein and minerals is greater than at any time in life.

On a too restrictive diet, the youngster will burn fat and protein. This brings a weight loss, but it is not all fat loss, the doctor explained.

AT THIS CRITICAL age it is of vital importance that the reducing diet furnish optimum amounts of all the protective nutrients needed for building and growth.

What is the answer to safe reducing for these adolescent fatties? "More exercise is the most important single step the adolescent overweight can take," the doctor emphasized.

Dr. Heald was formerly at the Children's Medical Center in Boston where researchers found that sedentary habits are the key to the plight of overweight teenagers. Lean adolescents, it was pointed out, actually eat more calories than the fatties. The vital difference is that lean youngsters use their food energy, while fat ones are inordinately inactive.

It's a mistaken notion that exercise always increases the appetite. The overweight youngster will eat heartily, exercise or no. With physical exercise, the food is burned for energy and the youngster feels peppier and happier.

What can the parents of an obese adolescent young lady do? Put her in the hands of a good medical man, or take her to a teen-age clinic. Do not ask the doctor to prescribe an appetite depressant pill.

On your part, stop harping about weight - reducing and food. Prepare three balanced meals a day, but plan less fattening fare. Calories can be curbed through smaller portions.

Dr. Heald sees so many of these unhappy overweight youngsters that he was not optimistic about the success of weight reduction during adolescence — until we talked about the value of increased exercise.

From there he told me of the excellent results achieved at Seascape, a supervised summer camp where obese girls from 12 to 18 reduce and stay reduced. There the girls eat to build slimness and change their food habits. The activity program is fun—swimming, water skiing, volley ball, tennis and the like.

TO THE OVERWEIGHT youngsters reading this column, let me say this: If the obese girls can reduce at camp, it can be done. This is a great challenge.

With your doctor's supervision and your mothers loving cooperation, you can eat to beat the pounds, exercise to step up calorie burning and look and feel like a new girl. This dietitian knows from the many wonderful letters that it can be done!

Send a stamped, self-addressed long envelope for "Teen-Age Challenge" and 'Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Children's Sleep Problems Discussed

The pacifier seems to be coming back and with the approval of a number of pediatricians. It would seem to be preferable to the gers, especially by night. A Pennsylvania mother of of five children seven, six, four, two and ten months old, writes: "You have heard from me a though not for about a year now, as I've been 'rather busy' since the arrival of our fifth child. My current problem is one I, as a supposedly-by-now-experienced mother, never suspected that I would encounter, for I thought I'd found the key to early infancy care.

"YOUR SUGGESTION about keeping the child in bed at nap and bed time once he'd learned to climb from his crib (you know — the one about stationing oneself near the door ready to pounce on the child as soon as his feet hit the floor, whack him once and pop him back in the crib as often as necessary) was too late for our first child and unnecessary with No. 2, but most helpful for No. 3 and No. 4.

"Consequently, I am wondering whether you have some 'magic touch' idea for my latest problem, which I can identify in one word: 'pacifier'.

"I never used a pacifier for June, but used one in self-defense with John, so that he would not wake up his still-a-baby sister at night until I'd get his bottle ready. The same reasoning applied with the other two boys. They were willing to give up their pacifiers by about three months of age.

"SOON AFTER the baby's birth he could scarcely get to sleep without a pacifier. The guests, who had come to stay while I was in the hospital, departed in a few days, to my relief, but the melody lingered on, so to speak, and the child never did become a good sleeper. Even now he rarely sleeps all night, big as he is.

"Since I myself seldom get much over four hours of sleep the first few months, at least not consecutively, I fell into the habit of trying to coax him back to sleep with his pacifier.

"What do you recommend? I enclose a return envelope."

My reply in part:

I'm sure you are a wonderful mother and you must be a poised person. But I wonder why you don't let Dad share in looking after the children at night.

IF I WERE you, I wouldn't worry about the pacifier at night with the baby. With all those little children you have so much on your hands that this problem seems to be relatively unimportant.

When by and by you feel the pacifier should disappear, just see that it does and that this youngster is allowed to cry himself back to sleep. Then after a few nights you might be able to enjoy more sleep yourself.

I sincerely hope you are able to get away from those children for brief or longer periods by day, leaving them in responsible care. And do try to neglect some not-too-urgent matters of housekeeping.

My bulletin "Sleep Problems with Children" may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Long-Range Estimate

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — When the Great Smoky Mountains National Park was established in 1931, National Park Service Director Horace M. Albright predicted it would eventually attract one million visitors a year.

County Continues State Court Case

LISBON — Prosecutor G. William Brokaw has been granted a continuance in a hearing for a late employe of the Courthouse, who had sued in the State Supreme Court to force her certification to the State Department of Personnel as microfilm operator.

The mandamus case was to have been heard at Columbus Wednesday.

Mrs. Edna Helman, who died a month ago, had held the Courthouse position since Feb. 1 without pay in the dispute between the Republican administration and the former Democratic commissioners over four Courthouse jobs.

Brokaw said he is checking to determine if Mrs. Helman's administrator can be named a party in the suit. If this is possible, he will ask for a hearing date.

This involves three other employes who were hired by the Republican commissioners. They have not been paid either but they were not named in the suit. They are the photostat operator, switchboard operator and clerk in the dog warden's department.

A similar case has been taken to the Supreme Court by the four Democratic employes who were replaced, claiming that they had Civil Service status and were released illegally. Hearing date for this case has never been set, Brokaw said.

Philippines Picks Leader In Vote Today

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines chose between Carlos P. Garcia and Diosdado Macapagal today in the most peaceful presidential election of the islands' 15-year history as a republic.

By the time the polls closed only one confirmed shooting and two unconfirmed incidents of serious violence had been reported, an unusually low figure for this young Asian republic which counted at least 22 political slayings during the campaign.

In the South Mindanao Province of Cotabato a poll watcher was shot and critically wounded. The national constabulary were investigating reports that a poll inspector was shot at Zamboanga del Norte, also on Mindanao, and that another inspector was killed and several wounded in Iloilo City, on the central island of Panay.

There were reports of maulings, vote-buying and intimidation, but these are usual for Philippine elections.

The outcome of the election probably will not be known before late Wednesday when returns come in from Garcia's stronghold in the central and southern islands.

Some 16,000 national constabulary and army troops guarded the polls Many of them were in Ilocos Sur, a traditional hotbed of political violence where half the confirmed 22 campaign deaths occurred.

Garcia, 65, sought re-election to a second four-year term on the ruling Nacionalista party ticket, campaigning on a "Filipino first" policy of economic nationalism. Macapagal, 51, vice president in Garcia's administration, headed the ticket of the opposition Liberal party, which accused the Garcia administration of graft and corruption.

Both predicted victory by wide margins. Both pledged to continue the Philippines' close relations with the United States.

Three candidates sought the vice presidency. The elections also were to fill eight of the 24 Senate seats and the 104 seats in the House of Representatives. For the past four years the Nacionalistas have controlled both houses by a large majority. A record turnout of about 7 million of the 8,476,731 registered voters was predicted.

Memorial Fund For Toronto Girl Achieves $1,000

Announcement was made today jointly by Prof. Robert H. Sykes, faculty advisor of the fund drive, and Nick Sarap, chairman.

Miss Ashcraft, a junior, died as the result of burns received last August while working on an undergraduate research training program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Miss Ashcraft, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlen Ashcraft of Toronto, was greatly interested in space physics. She was a graduate of Jefferson Union High School at Richmond.

The aim of the fund is to erect a memorial to keep Nancy Ashcraft's name, work and ambitions before future generations of Bethanians, Sarap said.

Dr. J. S. V. Allen, head of the physics department at Bethany, praised Miss Ashcraft and said her memory would continue to inspire students to be outstanding scholars and scientists.

Landlords, Tenants Warned On Using Unvented Heaters

With the advent of winter weather and the danger of fatalities from carbon monoxide fumes, city landlords and tenants were warned today a 4½-year-old state law provides a jail term and fine for using unvented space heaters in living quarters.

Asst. Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne secured a copy of the 1957 supplemental act from the state fire marshal's office and has turned over copies to the Ohio Valley Gas Co. and to Chief Charles Bryan and Asst. Chiefs David Anderson and James Pelley.

Van Dyne said firemen will inspect gas heaters and hot water tanks in residences on request.

The law was passed by the State Legislature May 28, 1957, and was approved by the then-Gov. C. William O'Neil on June 17, 1957.

Here's the law:

"Section 2923.251 — No owner or occupant of any rental residence, apartment, flat, tenement, room, or like living quarters or any other person shall install, use, or cause, or permit to be installed or used in any such residence, apartment, flat, tenement or like living quarters and no occupant of such premises shall install or cause to be used a gas-fired space or room heating apparatus unless such apparatus is vented to a flue or gas vent so as to vent the products of combustion to the outdoors.

"This section shall not apply to domestic gas ranges, domestic laundry stoves, gas heaters which are installed in a fireplace with an adequate flue, and domestic hot plates, unless they are used as space or room heaters, and nothing in this section, or in Section 2923.25 of the Revised Code, shall prohibit the installation of unvented gas heaters in areas not used as a residence, apartment, flat, room or like living quarters where ventilation is provided.

"Section 2923.99 — Whoever violates Section 2923.251 of the Revised Code shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both."

Firemen Fan Flames Of Love 15 Minutes

At 4:55 p.m., Charles William Merriman and Linda Ruth Reed of Knoxville drove up to the fire hall and asked where they could get a marriage license.

"At the courthouse," they were told, "but you've only got five minutes." The lovers rushed off.

At 5, they were back with the license — to find that the firemen also had been busy.

At 5:05, Miss Reed became Mrs. Merriman.

South Africa Weathers UN Expulsion Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —South Africa today had weathered twin moves to expel her from the United Nations and place her under a worldwide political-economic boycott. But her white supremacy policies were condemned by a resounding 72-2 vote.

The 103-nation special political committee voted 47-32 Monday for the demand by 30 Asian-African nations and Cuba to get the Security Council to consider ousting South Africa from the United Nations. The vote fell short of the two-thirds majority required for approval by the General Assembly.

The same fate befell the boycott call by the 31 sponsors. It was approved by the slim margin of 48-30.

The censure resolution by India and seven other nations denounced South Africa's apartheid policy of strict race segregation and asked member nations to take whatever action they deemed fit, individually or collectively. Only Portugal and South Africa voted against it, but there were 27 abstainers, including the United States, Britain and France.

The denunciation of apartheid was similar to a resolution approved by the assembly last year after a boycott proposal failed to get a two-thirds majority.

This time the committee tacked on three amendments which, since they did not get two-thirds majorities, probably will not clear the assembly. The Western powers had announced they would abstain in the vote on the resolution if the amendments were approved.

One, by Ethiopia, asked the Security Council to consider what steps should be taken against South Africa. Another, by the Soviet Union, calls for an embargo on arms to South Africa, and a Pakistani amendment calls for an oil embargo.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Children's Sleep Problems Discussed

The pacifier seems to be coming back and with the approval of a number of pediatricians. It would seem to be preferable to the gers, especially by night. A Pennsylvania mother of of five children seven, six, four, two and ten months old, writes: "You have heard from me a though not for about a year now, as I've been 'rather busy' since the arrival of our fifth child. My current problem is one I, as a supposedly-by-now-experienced mother, never suspected that I would encounter, for I thought I'd found the key to early infancy care.

"YOUR SUGGESTION about keeping the child in bed at nap and bed time once he'd learned to climb from his crib (you know — the one about stationing oneself near the door ready to pounce on the child as soon as his feet hit the floor, whack him once and pop him back in the crib as often as necessary) was too late for our first child and unnecessary with No. 2, but most helpful for No. 3 and No. 4.

"Consequently, I am wondering whether you have some 'magic touch' idea for my latest problem, which I can identify in one word: 'pacifier'.

"I never used a pacifier for June, but used one in self-defense with John, so that he would not wake up his still-a-baby sister at night until I'd get his bottle ready. The same reasoning applied with the other two boys. They were willing to give up their pacifiers by about three months of age.

"SOON AFTER the baby's birth he could scarcely get to sleep without a pacifier. The guests, who had come to stay while I was in the hospital, departed in a few days, to my relief, but the melody lingered on, so to speak, and the child never did become a good sleeper. Even now he rarely sleeps all night, big as he is.

"Since I myself seldom get much over four hours of sleep the first few months, at least not consecutively, I fell into the habit of trying to coax him back to sleep with his pacifier.

"What do you recommend? I enclose a return envelope."

My reply in part:

I'm sure you are a wonderful mother and you must be a poised person. But I wonder why you don't let Dad share in looking after the children at night.

IF I WERE you, I wouldn't worry about the pacifier at night with the baby. With all those little children you have so much on your hands that this problem seems to be relatively unimportant.

When by and by you feel the pacifier should disappear, just see that it does and that this youngster is allowed to cry himself back to sleep. Then after a few nights you might be able to enjoy more sleep yourself.

I sincerely hope you are able to get away from those children for brief or longer periods by day, leaving them in responsible care. And do try to neglect some not-too-urgent matters of housekeeping.

My bulletin "Sleep Problems with Children" may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Sideswiping Involves East Palestine Cars

LISBON — Moderate damage resulted to two cars involved in a sideswipe collision on Route 46 near New Waterford Mnday afternoon at 4:10, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

A car driven west by Dennis Lee Torrence, 248 Meadow Ln., East Palestine, was struck by another westbound auto operated by Paul L. Esterly, 21, of 307 Lyons Ave., East Palestine.

Long-Range Estimate

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — When the Great Smoky Mountains National Park was established in 1931, National Park Service Director Horace M. Albright predicted it would eventually attract one million visitors a year.

Albright, who left the Park Service in 1933, returned recently for a visit and admitted his sights 30 years ago were too low. The park attracted more than four million persons last year.

County Continues State Court Case

LISBON — Prosecutor G. William Brokaw has been granted a continuance in a hearing for a late employe of the Courthouse, who had sued in the State Supreme Court to force her certification to the State Department of Personnel as microfilm operator.

The mandamus case was to have been heard at Columbus Wednesday.

Mrs. Edna Helman, who died a month ago, had held the Courthouse position since Feb. 1 without pay in the dispute between the Republican administration and the former Democratic commissioners over four Courthouse jobs.

Brokaw said he is checking to determine if Mrs. Helman's administrator can be named a party in the suit. If this is possible, he will ask for a hearing date.

This involves three other employes who were hired by the Republican commissioners. They have not been paid either but they were not named in the suit. They are the photostat operator, switchboard operator and clerk in the dog warden's department.

A similar case has been taken to the Supreme Court by the four Democratic employes who were replaced, claiming that they had Civil Service status and were released illegally. Hearing date for this case has never been set, Brokaw said.

Philippines Picks Leader In Vote Today

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines chose between Carlos P. Garcia and Diosdado Macapagal today in the most peaceful presidential election of the islands' 15-year history as a republic.

By the time the polls closed only one confirmed shooting and two unconfirmed incidents of serious violence had been reported, an unusually low figure for this young Asian republic which counted at least 22 political slayings during the campaign.

In the South Mindanao Province of Cotabato a poll watcher was shot and critically wounded. The national constabulary were investigating reports that a poll inspector was shot at Zamboanga del Norte, also on Mindanao, and that another inspector was killed and several wounded in Iloilo City, on the central island of Panay.

There were reports of maulings, vote-buying and intimidation, but these are usual for Philippine elections.

The outcome of the election probably will not be known before late Wednesday when returns come in from Garcia's stronghold in the central and southern islands.

Some 16,000 national constabulary and army troops guarded the polls Many of them were in Ilocos Sur, a traditional hotbed of political violence where half the confirmed 22 campaign deaths occurred.

Garcia, 65, sought re-election to a second four-year term on the ruling Nacionalista party ticket, campaigning on a "Filipino first" policy of economic nationalism. Macapagal, 51, vice president in Garcia's administration, headed the ticket of the opposition Liberal party, which accused the Garcia administration of graft and corruption.

Both predicted victory by wide margins. Both pledged to continue the Philippines' close relations with the United States.

Three candidates sought the vice presidency. The elections also were to fill eight of the 24 Senate seats and the 104 seats in the House of Representatives. For the past four years the Nacionalistas have controlled both houses by a large majority. A record turnout of about 7 million of the 8,476,731 registered voters was predicted.

Announcement was made today jointly by Prof. Robert H. Sykes, faculty advisor of the fund drive, and Nick Sarap, chairman.

Miss Ashcraft, a junior, died as the result of burns received last August while working on an undergraduate research training program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Miss Ashcraft, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlen Ashcraft of Toronto, was greatly interested in space physics. She was a graduate of Jefferson Union High School at Richmond.

The aim of the fund is to erect a memorial to keep Nancy Ashcraft's name, work and ambitions before future generations of Bethanians, Sarap said.

Dr. J. S. V. Allen, head of the physics department at Bethany, praised Miss Ashcraft and said her memory would continue to inspire students to be outstanding scholars and scientists.

Landlords, Tenants Warned On Using Unvented Heaters

With the advent of winter weather and the danger of fatalities from carbon monoxide fumes, city landlords and tenants were warned today a 4½-year-old state law provides a jail term and fine for using unvented space heaters in living quarters.

Asst. Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne secured a copy of the 1957 supplemental act from the state fire marshal's office and has turned over copies to the Ohio Valley Gas Co. and to Chief Charles Bryan and Asst. Chiefs David Anderson and James Pelley.

Van Dyne said firemen will inspect gas heaters and hot water tanks in residences on request.

The law was passed by the State Legislature May 28, 1957, and was approved by the then-Gov. C. William O'Neil on June 17, 1957.

Here's the law:

"Section 2923.251 — No owner or occupant of any rental residence, apartment, flat, tenement, room, or like living quarters or any other person shall install, use, or cause, or permit to be installed or used in any such residence, apartment, flat, tenement or like living quarters and no occupant of such premises shall install or cause to be used a gas-fired space or room heating apparatus unless such apparatus is vented to a flue or gas vent so as to vent the products of combustion to the outdoors.

"This section shall not apply to domestic gas ranges, domestic laundry stoves, gas heaters which are installed in a fireplace with an adequate flue, and domestic hot plates, unless they are used as space or room heaters, and nothing in this section, or in Section 2923.25 of the Revised Code, shall prohibit the installation of unvented gas heaters in areas not used as a residence, apartment, flat, room or like living quarters where ventilation is provided.

"Section 2923.99 — Whoever violates Section 2923.251 of the Revised Code shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both."

Firemen Fan Flames Of Love 15 Minutes

At 4:55 p.m., Charles William Merriman and Linda Ruth Reed of Knoxville drove up to the fire hall and asked where they could get a marriage license.

"At the courthouse," they were told, "but you've only got five minutes." The lovers rushed off.

At 5, they were back with the license — to find that the firemen also had been busy.

At 5:05, Miss Reed became Mrs. Merriman.

South Africa Weathers UN Expulsion Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —South Africa today had weathered twin moves to expel her from the United Nations and place her under a worldwide political-economic boycott. But her white supremacy policies were condemned by a resounding 72-2 vote.

The 103-nation special political committee voted 47-32 Monday for the demand by 30 Asian-African nations and Cuba to get the Security Council to consider ousting South Africa from the United Nations. The vote fell short of the two-thirds majority required for approval by the General Assembly.

The same fate befell the boycott call by the 31 sponsors. It was approved by the slim margin of 48-30.

The censure resolution by India and seven other nations denounced South Africa's apartheid policy of strict race segregation and asked member nations to take whatever action they deemed fit, individually or collectively. Only Portugal and South Africa voted against it, but there were 27 abstainers, including the United States, Britain and France.

The denunciation of apartheid was similar to a resolution approved by the assembly last year after a boycott proposal failed to get a two-thirds majority.

This time the committee tacked on three amendments which, since they did not get two-thirds majorities, probably will not clear the assembly. The Western powers had announced they would abstain in the vote on the resolution if the amendments were approved.

One, by Ethiopia, asked the Security Council to consider what steps should be taken against South Africa. Another, by the Soviet Union, calls for an embargo on arms to South Africa, and a Pakistani amendment calls for an oil embargo.

Illegal Whisky Source Sought In Arrest Of 2 Men

EAST PALESTINE — Authorities today continued an investigation of the source of illegal whisky, for possession and transportation of which two area men were fined and jailed Monday by County Judge Herbert Arfman.

Robert Love, 51, of State Line, East Palestine, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail for unlawful possession of illegal spirits.

Eddie White Jr., 30, of 422 Fairfield Ave., Columbiana, was fined $100 and costs and given six months in jail for transportation of illegal spirits and $25 and costs and 30 days in jail for illegal possession.

The pair, along with Percy McGary and Fred McGary and Matt Griggs, all of Columbiana, were halted by city police in a routine auto check in the downtown area early Sunday morning.

When officers found a gallon jug of whisky and some emptied containers, they took the five into custody for questioning and notified the alcohol tax division of the Ohio Liquor Control board.

City police filed the charges, including one of intoxication against Griggs, who was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Robert Harding.

City Court Rules 'Veiled' Threats Don't Break Law

A vague veiled threat against another does not constitute violation of the state law against striking—or threatening to strike—another person, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff ruled today in dismissing a charge against a Negley man.

Hall testified Reynolds encountered him in a public laundry Wednesday and told him to pay a $78 debt "or one of us is going to wind up in the hospital."

Hall admitted owing the money, but said he told Reynolds he could not pay until his payday. Reynolds did not strike him, he said.

"Last Saturday night all six tires on my truck were cut," Hall added. "Of course I don't know if it ties in with this case," he testified.

Judge Chertoff ordered the charge dismissed. "The state law covers 'assault or threatening in a menacing manner'," the judge said. "I can see neither in this case."

TV Plans More Night-Time News

Television viewers who share Federal Communications Commission Chairman Newton Minow's view that there ought to be more news on TV in evening hours will be interested to know that some top-level network people actively support this idea.

In fact, at two of the three networks, CBS and NBC, tentative formats are in existence for expanding their long-established 15-minute news shows to half an hour nightly.

The roadblock is time clearance. The inference at both networks is that they would expand their evening newscasts immediately if local affiliated stations opened up the time.

AT NBC, the Huntley-Brinkley Report is in a network "island," surrounded by local programming. At CBS, Doug Edwards' news is preceded by local shows and backs up to the network's evening schedule.

NBC President Robert Kintner makes no secret of his desire for a half-hour evening newscast; he is avowedly news conscious. CBS News President Richard Salant earlier this year espoused the idea strongly to affiliates; the response was "measly."

Trouble is that the stations have established local news and other features, admittedly more profitable to them under local sponsorship, which they are loathe to move or abandon to make room for longer network newscasts.

Also, they see such a move as further network encroachment on their "option" time, a matter which is even now before the FCC.

THE PROPOSED half-hour newscasts, incidentally, would not be simply extensions of the present shows. Salant says what CBS has in mind would "be quite different," introducing so-called "back of the book" editorial features. (This is a magazine trade term referring to departments in the after sections of news weeklies.)

NBC is in "continuing work" on a half-hour Huntley-Brinkley format, but a spokesman said, "We aren't even well enough advanced in our thinking to go to the advertisers with it."

As for ABC, the proposal does not especially interest news chief James C. Hagerty at this time. He points out that ABC in a sense already has a 30-minute evening news edition, in two parts, at 7 and 11 p.m. Hagerty had his own troubles several months ago clearing the late-night time for network news.

Stymied though an expanded Huntley-Brinkley report may be for now, NBC is going ahead with additions to its daytime news. It was learned that still another five-minute strip (Monday through Friday) will be added on Jan. 1, probably in the early afternoon.

ABC ADDED a promising cubit to the stature of its 1962-63 television programming plans with announcement that Gene Kelly will star in an hour-long weekly dramatic series based on the famous movie story, "Going My Way."

Gene Kelly will play the role of Father Chuck O'Malley, originally created by Bing Crosby in the movie, ABC-TV's program vice president Thomas W. Moore reported.

"The series, a dramatic show with strong comedy overtones," he said, "will tell the story of a Catholic priest in New York, in his relations with his parishioners and with a Protestant minister who is his friend and counterpart."

An ABC source said this latter role has not been filled, but will be "of co-starring status" with Kelly's.

Lone Survivor In Sea Tragedy Tells Sad Story

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — "It was dark, rough and squally. I saw a child floating in the water with a lifejacket. I pulled it into the lifeboat but the child was dead. I drifted with the body beside me until the tanker picked me up."

The survivor, Capt. Julian Harvey, 44, skipper of the ketch Blue Belle, said the vessel went down about 50 miles northwest of Nassau late Sunday night.

After drifting for 14 hours with the body of a 10-year-old girl beside him, Harvey was picked up by the tanker Gulf Lyon and brought to Nassau. He was treated for exposure and shock.

Also aboard and believed lost when the Blue Belle went down were Mary Dene Harvey, 34, wife of the skipper; Arthur Dupersault, about 40, of Green Bay, Wis., his wife and three children, including the girl and two boys aged 8 and 14.

Ohio Study, Inspection Asked

County Units Held Weak Link In Integration Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert A. Manchester of Youngstown, member and former president of the Ohio Board of Education, says county school boards represent "the weak link in the integration of our educational system in Ohio."

Manchester asked the state board Monday to make a "study and inspection" of the state's 88 county boards of education.

State Board President Charlton Myers of Marion asked State School Supt. E. E. Holt to determine how such a study could be made.

Manchester said about $3 million a year in state funds is being used to help finance county school board services and "we have a right to expect certain performance."

In other developments, the board heard objections to its proposed administrator certification requirements.

Chief objection came from eight representatives of the Ohio Association of Public School Employes.

They contended that administrators who are school business managers, architects, and personnel and school-community relations experts should not be required to have classroom teaching experience as part of their qualifications.

The board served notice of intent to revoke the teaching certificate of Floyd C. Walton, elementary teacher employed by the Tuslaw District near Massillon.

The resolution said a California certificate held by Walton had been revoked and alleged that he "has engaged in intemperate and immoral conduct or other conduct unbecoming to a teacher." It did not elaborate. A hearing on the matter was set for Jan. 8.

In other actions, Monday the board:

Took first steps to revoke the charter of Bladensburg High School, Knox County, effective June 30, 1962, on grounds of 19 violations of minimum school standards.

Took final action to revoke 10 high school charters, effective next June 30, including those of Martinsville and New Vienna in Clinton County.

Asked the school superintendent for a recommendation on a proposal by Mrs. Fannie D. Stough, vice president of the Mount Victory - Dudley School Board. She suggested consolidating the Mount Victory-Dudley District, the Ridgeway District (both in Hardin County, the Buckeye Local District (Logan County) and the Washington - York District (Union County).

Authorized a board committee to consider proposed criteria for new joint vocational high school districts consisting of several districts or an entire county.

White House Picketed In Behalf Of Sobell

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Cleveland clergyman accompanied the wife and mother of convicted conspirator Morton Sobell as they picketed the White House Monday hoping for presidential intervention.

The clergyman, the Rev. Lowell Wellman, carried petitions he said came from about a dozen Ohio ministers asking the President to take a look at Sobell's case.

Sobell was sent to prison in 1951 for a 30-year term. He was convicted of conspiracy to commit espionage. His wife picketed the White House last September, too.

Sobell's case was connected with that of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted and executed as atomic spies.

'Fair' Solution Urged For U.S. Farm Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A plea for an equitable solution to the nation's farm problems went out to delegates at the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's annual meeting today.

Asking the farmers to work with the Kennedy Administration in seeking a solution, Stanfield said: "Bitterness in Congress benefits no one, particularly the farmer and consumer who still are faced with the need for a workable farm program . . . ."

He suggested that the Cropland Adjustment Program, presented to the delegates for action Wednesday, would be acceptable to both farmers and the administration.

The program calls for voluntary land retirement, technical programs to train rural persons for non-agricultural occupations, price supports at the 1961 levels and levels and voluntary retirement of whole farms on a bid basis.

A push forward on three fronts —internal, political and economic—was urged by Wendell Weller, Ohio bureau president.

At Paris Conference

U.S. To Ask 20 Nations Hike Economic Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will propose this week that the 20 nations of the Atlantic Community increase their combined economic output 50 per cent by 1970, U. S. officials said today.

George W. Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state for economic affairs, will present the proposal at the conference of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development in Paris Thursday and Friday.

The organization has three declared aims: to work in the interest of achieving the highest possible economic growth, to assist less-developed areas of the world with capital investments, and to expand world trade.

The United States believes, officials said, that with the economic recovery of Western Europe completed and with the free convertibility of Western European currencies generally achieved, it is time to set a new goal. It would raise the present combined gross national putput of the 20-nation body from about $900 billion a year to $1.35 trillion within nine years.

The annual gross national product of the United States would increase from $520 billion in 1961 to $780 billion by 1970 if the goal is reached.

A top-ranking diplomat said adoption of the U.S. proposal—plus what he called necessary changes in domestic economic policies—would show that Western nations recognize their economy must grow if it is to survive.

TV Plans More Night-Time News

Television viewers who share Federal Communications Commission Chairman Newton Minow's view that there ought to be more news on TV in evening hours will be interested to know that some top-level network people actively support this idea.

In fact, at two of the three networks, CBS and NBC, tentative formats are in existence for expanding their long-established 15-minute news shows to half an hour nightly.

The roadblock is time clearance. The inference at both networks is that they would expand their evening newscasts immediately if local affiliated stations opened up the time.

AT NBC, the Huntley-Brinkley Report is in a network "island," surrounded by local programming. At CBS, Doug Edwards' news is preceded by local shows and backs up to the network's evening schedule.

NBC President Robert Kintner makes no secret of his desire for a half-hour evening newscast; he is avowedly news conscious. CBS News President Richard Salant earlier this year espoused the idea strongly to affiliates; the response was "measly."

Trouble is that the stations have established local news and other features, admittedly more profitable to them under local sponsorship, which they are loathe to move or abandon to make room for longer network newscasts.

Also, they see such a move as further network encroachment on their "option" time, a matter which is even now before the FCC.

THE PROPOSED half-hour newscasts, incidentally, would not be simply extensions of the present shows. Salant says what CBS has in mind would "be quite different," introducing so-called "back of the book" editorial features. (This is a magazine trade term referring to departments in the after sections of news weeklies.)

NBC is in "continuing work" on a half-hour Huntley-Brinkley format, but a spokesman said, "We aren't even well enough advanced in our thinking to go to the advertisers with it."

As for ABC, the proposal does not especially interest news chief James C. Hagerty at this time. He points out that ABC in a sense already has a 30-minute evening news edition, in two parts, at 7 and 11 p.m. Hagerty had his own troubles several months ago clearing the late-night time for network news.

Stymied though an expanded Huntley-Brinkley report may be for now, NBC is going ahead with additions to its daytime news. It was learned that still another five-minute strip (Monday through Friday) will be added on Jan. 1, probably in the early afternoon.

ABC ADDED a promising cubit to the stature of its 1962-63 television programming plans with announcement that Gene Kelly will star in an hour-long weekly dramatic series based on the famous movie story, "Going My Way."

Gene Kelly will play the role of Father Chuck O'Malley, originally created by Bing Crosby in the movie, ABC-TV's program vice president Thomas W. Moore reported.

"The series, a dramatic show with strong comedy overtones," he said, "will tell the story of a Catholic priest in New York, in his relations with his parishioners and with a Protestant minister who is his friend and counterpart."

An ABC source said this latter role has not been filled, but will be "of co-starring status" with Kelly's.

The series will be produced by Kelly's own Kerry Productions and Revue Productions. Filming of the show will be started early next year.

Lone Survivor In Sea Tragedy Tells Sad Story

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — "It was dark, rough and squally. I saw a child floating in the water with a lifejacket. I pulled it into the lifeboat but the child was dead. I drifted with the body beside me until the tanker picked me up."

That was part of the story told Monday night by the only known survivor of seven Americans aboard a 60-foot yacht which caught fire and sank during a cruise of Bahamian waters.

The survivor, Capt. Julian Harvey, 44, skipper of the ketch Blue Belle, said the vessel went down about 50 miles northwest of Nassau late Sunday night.

After drifting for 14 hours with the body of a 10-year-old girl beside him, Harvey was picked up by the tanker Gulf Lyon and brought to Nassau. He was treated for exposure and shock.

Also aboard and believed lost when the Blue Belle went down were Mary Dene Harvey, 34, wife of the skipper; Arthur Dupersault, about 40, of Green Bay, Wis., his wife and three children, including the girl and two boys aged 8 and 14.

Ohio Study, Inspection Asked

County Units Held Weak Link In Integration Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert A. Manchester of Youngstown, member and former president of the Ohio Board of Education, says county school boards represent "the weak link in the integration of our educational system in Ohio."

Manchester asked the state board Monday to make a "study and inspection" of the state's 88 county boards of education.

State Board President Charlton Myers of Marion asked State School Supt. E. E. Holt to determine how such a study could be made.

Manchester said about $3 million a year in state funds is being used to help finance county school board services and "we have a right to expect certain performance."

In other developments, the board heard objections to its proposed administrator certification requirements.

Chief objection came from eight representatives of the Ohio Association of Public School Employes.

They contended that administrators who are school business managers, architects, and personnel and school-community relations experts should not be required to have classroom teaching experience as part of their qualifications.

The board expects to take final action of the new requirements at its Dec. 11 meeting.

The board served notice of intent to revoke the teaching certificate of Floyd C. Walton, elementary teacher employed by the Tuslaw District near Massillon.

The resolution said a California certificate held by Walton had been revoked and alleged that he "has engaged in intemperate and immoral conduct or other conduct unbecoming to a teacher." It did not elaborate. A hearing on the matter was set for Jan. 8.

In other actions, Monday the board:

Took first steps to revoke the charter of Bladensburg High School, Knox County, effective June 30, 1962, on grounds of 19 violations of minimum school standards.

Took final action to revoke 10 high school charters, effective next June 30, including those of Martinsville and New Vienna in Clinton County.

Asked the school superintendent for a recommendation on a proposal by Mrs. Fannie D. Stough, vice president of the Mount Victory - Dudley School Board. She suggested consolidating the Mount Victory-Dudley District, the Ridgeway District (both in Hardin County, the Buckeye Local District (Logan County) and the Washington - York District (Union County).

Authorized a board committee to consider proposed criteria for new joint vocational high school districts consisting of several districts or an entire county.

White House Picketed In Behalf Of Sobell

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Cleveland clergyman accompanied the wife and mother of convicted conspirator Morton Sobell as they picketed the White House Monday hoping for presidential intervention.

The clergyman, the Rev. Lowell Wellman, carried petitions he said came from about a dozen Ohio ministers asking the President to take a look at Sobell's case.

Sobell was sent to prison in 1951 for a 30-year term. He was convicted of conspiracy to commit espionage. His wife picketed the White House last September, too.

Sobell's case was connected with that of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted and executed as atomic spies.

'Fair' Solution Urged For U.S. Farm Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A plea for an equitable solution to the nation's farm problems went out to delegates at the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's annual meeting today.

Asking the farmers to work with the Kennedy Administration in seeking a solution, Stanfield said: "Bitterness in Congress benefits no one, particularly the farmer and consumer who still are faced with the need for a workable farm program . . . ."

He suggested that the Cropland Adjustment Program, presented to the delegates for action Wednesday, would be acceptable to both farmers and the administration.

The program calls for voluntary land retirement, technical programs to train rural persons for non-agricultural occupations, price supports at the 1961 levels and levels and voluntary retirement of whole farms on a bid basis.

A push forward on three fronts —internal, political and economic—was urged by Wendell Weller, Ohio bureau president.

At Paris Conference

U.S. To Ask 20 Nations Hike Economic Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will propose this week that the 20 nations of the Atlantic Community increase their combined economic output 50 per cent by 1970, U. S. officials said today.

George W. Ball, U.S. undersecretary of state for economic affairs, will present the proposal at the conference of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development in Paris Thursday and Friday.

The organization has three declared aims: to work in the interest of achieving the highest possible economic growth, to assist less-developed areas of the world with capital investments, and to expand world trade.

The United States believes, officials said, that with the economic recovery of Western Europe completed and with the free convertibility of Western European currencies generally achieved, it is time to set a new goal. It would raise the present combined gross national putput of the 20-nation body from about $900 billion a year to $1.35 trillion within nine years.

The annual gross national product of the United States would increase from $520 billion in 1961 to $780 billion by 1970 if the goal is reached.

A top-ranking diplomat said adoption of the U.S. proposal—plus what he called necessary changes in domestic economic policies—would show that Western nations recognize their economy must grow if it is to survive.

The Sports Bench

By BOB DUFFY

Local Gridders Had Their Day...

Everywhere you looked, it seemed that a district gridder was making the headlines.

Out at Granville, it was "Nick Musuraca Day," (not officially) but the former-Potter star made it that way.

Hobbled by injuries midway through the season but now recovered, Musuraca scored two touchdowns for Denison in a 35-10 victory over Oberlin.

The tallies were of the spectacular nature. Nick rambled 68 yards for one and scored another on a 34-yard gallop. It was his finest day of the season for Denison, which has a 2-5 mark in Ohio Conference play.

ALL THE honors went to three area youths in Geneva's 26-7 triumph over Lycoming.

Potts In Bowl Game...

DOWN AT Ohio University, in a game which we watched, Jim Potts helped Bowling Green to at least a share of the Mid-American Conference title when the Falcons defeated OU, 7-6.

If Ohio U. defeats Western Michigan this weekend, then the title goes to Bowling Green. However, if Western Michigan wins, then the conference will end in a tie.

Potts will be taking part in a bowl game this year. It is the Mercy Bowl to be played on Thanksgiving Day at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

The game is being played in the interest of the California Poly 1960 Football Tragedy Fund for which more than $200,000 is needed to take care of expenses to which Cal Poly players and their families have been subjected as the result of the plane crash at Toledo last Oct. 29.

Sixteen players perished and many others were seriously injured in the crash that occurred several hours after the team had lost a game to Bowling Green, 50-6.

Stanton, Hoppel Sweep Honors...

EAST LIVERPOOL'S trip to Alliance Friday night will put the final touch to the 1961 high school football season so far as the Tri-State area is concerned.

Since the Potters are not in the running for any district laurels, all of the titles have been settled.

To Coach Don McBride's Stanton Local team goes the District title for its 8-1 record. Stanton is a Class A school. The top AA team was Beaver Local with a 7-1-2 record, followed closely by a fine George Fisher-coached Columbiana squad. The Clippers finished the season with a 7-2 record.

Two other teams show seven victories to their credit. New Cumberland finished 7-2-1 and Salem 7-3.

The job that McBride did at Stanton Local did not come as a surprise. The former Ohio University quarterback had nothing but winning teams when he was at Hopedale and he gave Stanton one of the schools top records.

Congratulations are in order at this time for McBride, in his first year at Irondale, and to his fine football team.

And we would like to shake hands with Carl Hoppel and offer our congratulations for winning the district scoring title. Already a topnotch wrestler, Hoppel also displayed ability on the gridiron by throwing opposing tacklers around with his bulldozer running tactics.

They'll Outsmart You...

It is rare when a football team has so many top students as Alliance shows. Out of the top 15 students in the graduating Class, 10 are boys and eight of those are on the first or second team of the football squad.

In fact, regular guard Jim Fraraccio and center Jim Stoops are waging a two-way fight for valedictorian honors.

This 'N That In Sports...

THE ATHLETIC Association of Beaver Local High School and the Boosters Club have combined to give the school's football team a busy day on Saturday.

Forty members of the football and coaching staff will be guests of the Association at the Pitt-USC game Saturday at Pittsburgh. They will travel to Pittsburgh by chartered bus.

The team will be honored with a banquet Saturday night beginning at 6:30 at the school with Robert Bronson, athletic director at Ashland College as guest speaker. The Boosters Club is sponsoring the banquet.

Awards and letters will be given at this time.

COACH JACK O'Rourke informed us that Keith Berger, regular tackle for the Beavers suffered a fractured foot in the Springfield game Saturday. Injured in the first quarter, the coaching staff was unaware of it and Berger played the whole game.

UNITED'S principal Frank Solak claims that the Hanoverton school was first to issue the protective mouthpiece in the district. Frank said they were issued the first day of practice in August. Other area schools didn't receive them until after the season had started.

Houston Official Charges Kuharich Influenced Ditka

CHICAGO (AP) — The newest controversy between the rival professional football leagues centers around end Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears who is heading for rookie honors in the National Football League.

John Breen, vice president of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, charged Monday that Notre Dame Coach Joe Kuharich kept Ditka from talking contract with the Oilers and maneuvered him to the Bears.

"Absolutely ridiculous," said Kuharich when reached in South Bend, Ind.

"I have no knowledge of any college coach contacting Ditka on our behalf," said Bear owner-coach George Halas. "No part of Breen's story is consistent with the facts. One of the reasons we drafted Ditka was because he had told Art Rooney (owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers) that he wanted to play in the National Football League.

Breen, speaking at Chicago's American Quarterback Club, said "Kuharich spends half his time working for the Bears and if he devoted full time to his Notre Dame job his team probably would have a better record." (Notre Dame has a 4-3 record this season).

Young Pro, 21, Wins Cleveland Pin Classic

CLEVELAND (AP) — A young man of 21, bowling in his fifth professional tournament, showed the old pros how to do it in the $40,000 Professional Bowlers Association National Championship.

Dave Soutar of Detroit, refusing to fold when the pressure was the greatest, finished the rugged four-day tournament in first place Monday night and carried off the $6,000 top prize.

The slender, mild - mannered Soutar, who turned pro just last May, beat some of the nation's best - known bowlers in head-to-head competition during the 27-game finals. He piled up 212.01 points and led also in pins felled with total of 5,792.

Texas remained the No. 1 college football team in the country today in the weekly Associated Press football poll and in the process won over another half-dozen panelists.

Last week the Longhorns, now 8-0 and rushing toward the host spot in the Cotton Bowl, collected 35 first-place votes. This week, 41 members of the nationwide group of 47 sports writers and sportscasters placed them on top.

Alabama, also 8-0, continued a strong second, followed by Ohio State, 6-0-1, Louisiana State, 7-1, and Minnesota, 6-1. That's just how the top five looked a week ago.

Texas finished with 463 points on the basis of 10 points for first place, 9 for second and so on. Alabama had 401 and Ohio State 365. Alabama, which had six first-place votes a week ago, had three this time.

One unusual aspect of the poll this week was that two losers, Michigan State and Colorado, both hung on in the top 10. Usually, when a team loses it nosedives right into the also-rans.

Wilt To Lose His Closest Competitor

NEW YORK (AP) — There's apparently no way to stop Philadelphia's skyscraping Wilt Chamberlain from pouring in the points and grabbing his third consecutive National Basketball Association scoring title, but the Army's going to give him an assist anyway.

Chamberlain, No. 1 man with 496 points and a 49.6 a game average, loses his closest competitor when Los Angeles' Elgin Baylor, runner-up with 383 points and a 34.8 average, leaves for military service Nov. 26.

Behind Baylor in the latest statistics released by league headquarters today are New York's Richie Guerin and Baylor's teammate, Jerry West. Guerin has 359 points for a 27.6 average while West has 356 for a 32.4 mark.

Chamberlain also is tops in rebounds with 278 in 10 games. Clyde Lovellette of St. Louis is field goal percentage leader at .508, Philadelphia's Paul Arizin is No. 1 in free throw accuracy with a .901 percentage and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati is first in assists with 13.5 a game.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Massillon and Niles McKinley were engaged today in a two-team race for Ohio's high school football championship.

The title, and winner of the Rutgers Hall of Fame trophy, will be decided in next week's Associated Press poll of sports writers.

Massillon, defending king and nine-time poll winner, clung to the top spot it has held all year as 54 writers voted today. But the Tigers' margin had dwindled to almost nothing as the Red Dragons put up their biggest challenge of the campaign. Niles finished second in the 1960 ratings.

A week ago Massillon had 29 first-place votes and 429 poll points to Niles' two top nods and 330 points. The sentiment shift today found Niles with 21½ first place ballots to Massillon's 13½, but the Tigers were on top in poll points on the 10-9-8-etc. basis, 440½ to 411½.

The half votes were the result of one editor putting both challengers in the top spot and omitting second place from his ballot.

Massillon has one game to go —the annual classic with Canton McKinley next Saturday afternoon in Canton's Fawcett Stadium. The Tigers must win it handily to stay atop the poll, today's returns indicate.

Alliance's loss pushed the Aviators from third to eighth place in the ratings. Middletown, fifth last week, skidded to 10th. Bellevue climbed to third.

Rambling Ricky Sygar was the season's big gun for Niles. He scored twice against Alliance to run his season's output to 174 points on 25 touchdowns and 12 running conversions. He averaged 8.5 yards for 149 carries this year.

Larry Coomer of Cardington sat on the bench with torn ligaments as his team lost 10-0 to Crestline, its first setback in 29 games. Larry had contributed 150 points this season.

Harry Wilson, 170-pound junior, scored both Big Red touchdowns as Steubenville beat Steubenville Central Catholic 12-0. That gave him 18 touchdowns for the campaign. Ray Hoyman, Big Red Coach, said Slingin' Sam Fornsaglio of the losers, who completed 13 of 23, is "the best high school passer in the country."

Poland beat Giard 56-0 for an 18-game winning streak and the school's first perfect season. Little Lowellville (Class A), finished with 7-0-1, only a pair of ties marring the last 27 starts.

Larry Zuercher scored the touchdown for Dalton Friday which gave it an 8-8 tie with Norwayne and the Wayne County title. It was Larry's 186th point of the year.

Alliance's great Glen Hill went 81 yards in two consecutive plays in the 30-6 loss to Niles. The Aviators have a 136-pound middle linebacker, two halfbacks and a fullback at 145 pounds, and there are only three 200-pounders on the entire squad. Both Leo Strang of Massillon and Tony Mason of Niles tagged Alliance mentor Mel Knowlton as a great coach as they agreed "how that man gets so much out of so little is a miracle."

Local Gridders Had Their Day...

Local football stars now campaigning on the college gridirons probably had their best day—collectively—Saturday.

Everywhere you looked, it seemed that a district gridder was making the headlines.

Out at Granville, it was "Nick Musuraca Day," (not officially) but the former-Potter star made it that way.

Hobbled by injuries midway through the season but now recovered, Musuraca scored two touchdowns for Denison in a 35-10 victory over Oberlin.

The tallies were of the spectacular nature. Nick rambled 68 yards for one and scored another on a 34-yard gallop. It was his finest day of the season for Denison, which has a 2-5 mark in Ohio Conference play.

ALL THE honors went to three area youths in Geneva's 26-7 triumph over Lycoming.

Bill Mayhew, one-time all-stater from Chester, got Geneva rolling when he returned the opening kickoff 88 yards for a touchdown.

Potts In Bowl Game...

DOWN AT Ohio University, in a game which we watched, Jim Potts helped Bowling Green to at least a share of the Mid-American Conference title when the Falcons defeated OU, 7-6.

Potts completed several key passes that kept Bowling Green alive and played almost the entire game at quarterback.

If Ohio U. defeats Western Michigan this weekend, then the title goes to Bowling Green. However, if Western Michigan wins, then the conference will end in a tie.

Potts will be taking part in a bowl game this year. It is the Mercy Bowl to be played on Thanksgiving Day at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

The game is being played in the interest of the California Poly 1960 Football Tragedy Fund for which more than $200,000 is needed to take care of expenses to which Cal Poly players and their families have been subjected as the result of the plane crash at Toledo last Oct. 29.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Massillon and Niles McKinley were engaged today in a two-team race for Ohio's high school football championship.

The title, and winner of the Rutgers Hall of Fame trophy, will be decided in next week's Associated Press poll of sports writers.

Massillon, defending king and nine-time poll winner, clung to the top spot it has held all year as 54 writers voted today. But the Tigers' margin had dwindled to almost nothing as the Red Dragons put up their biggest challenge of the campaign. Niles finished second in the 1960 ratings.

A week ago Massillon had 29 first-place votes and 429 poll points to Niles' two top nods and 330 points. The sentiment shift today found Niles with 21½ first place ballots to Massillon's 13½, but the Tigers were on top in poll points on the 10-9-8-etc. basis, 440½ to 411½.

The half votes were the result of one editor putting both challengers in the top spot and omitting second place from his ballot.

Massillon has one game to go —the annual classic with Canton McKinley next Saturday afternoon in Canton's Fawcett Stadium. The Tigers must win it handily to stay atop the poll, today's returns indicate.

Alliance's loss pushed the Aviators from third to eighth place in the ratings. Middletown, fifth last week, skidded to 10th. Bellevue climbed to third.

From here and there:

Rambling Ricky Sygar was the season's big gun for Niles. He scored twice against Alliance to run his season's output to 174 points on 25 touchdowns and 12 running conversions. He averaged 8.5 yards for 149 carries this year.

Martins Ferry, seventh in the poll, will be shooting for its 31st straight win Saturday against Bellaire.

Larry Coomer of Cardington sat on the bench with torn ligaments as his team lost 10-0 to Crestline, its first setback in 29 games. Larry had contributed 150 points this season.

Harry Wilson, 170-pound junior, scored both Big Red touchdowns as Steubenville beat Steubenville Central Catholic 12-0. That gave him 18 touchdowns for the campaign. Ray Hoyman, Big Red Coach, said Slingin' Sam Fornsaglio of the losers, who completed 13 of 23, is "the best high school passer in the country."

Cardinal Mooney of Youngstown, with eight straight, has wrapped up the city title—its first.

Poland beat Giard 56-0 for an 18-game winning streak and the school's first perfect season. Little Lowellville (Class A), finished with 7-0-1, only a pair of ties marring the last 27 starts.

Larry Zuercher scored the touchdown for Dalton Friday which gave it an 8-8 tie with Norwayne and the Wayne County title. It was Larry's 186th point of the year.

Alliance's great Glen Hill went 81 yards in two consecutive plays in the 30-6 loss to Niles. The Aviators have a 136-pound middle linebacker, two halfbacks and a fullback at 145 pounds, and there are only three 200-pounders on the entire squad. Both Leo Strang of Massillon and Tony Mason of Niles tagged Alliance mentor Mel Knowlton as a great coach as they agreed "how that man gets so much out of so little is a miracle."

Race Will End Next Week

Sooners Seem On Way Back After 2 Straight Wins

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Has Oklahoma turned the corner from failure to success as the 1961 college football season nears its close?

Those who've seen the Sooners win their last two games, after losing the first five, think so, particularly after a crisp 7-0 victory last Saturday over heavily favored Missouri.

"You can definitely say that Oklahoma is on the way back," Army scout Bill Rowe said today. He has seen the Sooners play four times—two won and two lost—in preparation for Army's game at New York's Yankee Stadium against the Sooners this Saturday.

Those close to the Oklahoma scene feel that the NCAA probation imposed in 1960 hurt the recruiting program.

"Bud Wilkinson has done the best coaching job of his life this year because he's had to," OU publicist Harold Keith told the New York Football Writers Monday. "He's been forced to use kids who last year couldn't make the traveling squad, or just were not good enough to win a letter. And he's had to use them against opposition as fine as we've ever had in the Big Eight Conference."

Wilkinson has also been plagued by injury problems, and when these diminished, along with the emergence of Bob Page as a take-charge quarterback, his fortunes began to turn for the best. Against Army this week, he is expected to have tackle Bill White off the injury list. White is considered OU's best player.

The game also will be telecast (ABC) regionally.

Minnesota, hot on the trail for a repeat of its 1960 national championship, will have halfback Jim Cairns off the injury list for this week's Big Ten game against Purdue. Coach Darrell Royal of the top-ranked Texas Longhorns said he still didn't expect fullback Ray Poage to be ready for this week's game against Texas Christian.

Notre Dame, which meets Syracuse this week, may not have tackle Roger Wilke and fullback Dick Naab because of injuries but end Jim Kelly, out for the last two games, is expected to be ready. Orange center Bob Stem is in the questionable category.

Quarterback Bill Mrukowski and end Chuck Bryant of Ohio State were expected to be ready for the game against Oregon. Columbia, which can gain at least a share of the Ivy League title by beating Penn this week, is expected to have fullback Tom O'Connor in the lineup.

Findlay Gridders Lead Way On Mid-Ohio Squad

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The Mid-Ohio League all-star football team, selected by the loop's coaches, is divided into offensive and defensive units, and league champion Findlay placed four men on each.

Oilers on the offensive squad are halfback Odell Barry, end Ted Lenear and tackles Jerry Wasserman and Don Niederhauser. Findlay players making the defensive squad are end Bill Hughes, halfback Steve McGee, and linebackers Doug Meek and Tony Palmieri.

Barry was a unanimous choice along with two others named to the offensive unit — guard Dan Barker of Ohio Northern and end Martin Baumhower of Defiance.

Bluffton's Bill Lape made the team for the third time as right half on offense. Others repeating from last year's team are quarterback Tom Grzywinski of Defiance, tackle Ralph Reichenbach and middle guard Joe Steiner, both of Bluffton, and linebacker Dan Baker of Defiance—all but Grzywinski on the defensive unit.

Others named to the offensive team are center Don Roby of Ashland, guard Dave Shook of Defiance and fullback Mike Goings of Bluffton. Other defensive members are Wilmington end Lowell Bernardino, Ohio Northern tackle Jerry Hinsee, Bluffton linebacker Ed Smoker and Ohio Northern halfback Floyd Seitz.

Third baseman Clete Boyer of the Yankees led the team in sacrifice flies last season with eight.

Flips In 39 To Pace Lakers

Highly-Paid Elgin To Draw $85-Per-Month As Soldier

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Elgin Baylor reports to Fort Lewis, Wash., as an Army medical corpsman Nov. 26 he will go off salary as a $50,000-a-year Los Angeles Laker basketball star and draw $85-a-month from Uncle Sam.

Baylor, 26, signed a five-year personal services contract with Laker owner Robert E. Short this year, calling for $250,000. General Manager Louis R. Mohs said a new contract, probably for the same duration and same terms, will be negotiated when Baylor completes his year of service.

Baylor was the high scorer with 39 points Monday night as the Lakers beat the Chicago Packers, 127-113, and extended their lead in the Western division of the National Basketball League race. The Lakers now are 10-2. It was the ninth loss in 11 games for the Packers, who were led by Walt Bellamy's 30 points.

"I've been with this club for four years and I thought this was the year we had a chance for the championship," says Baylor.

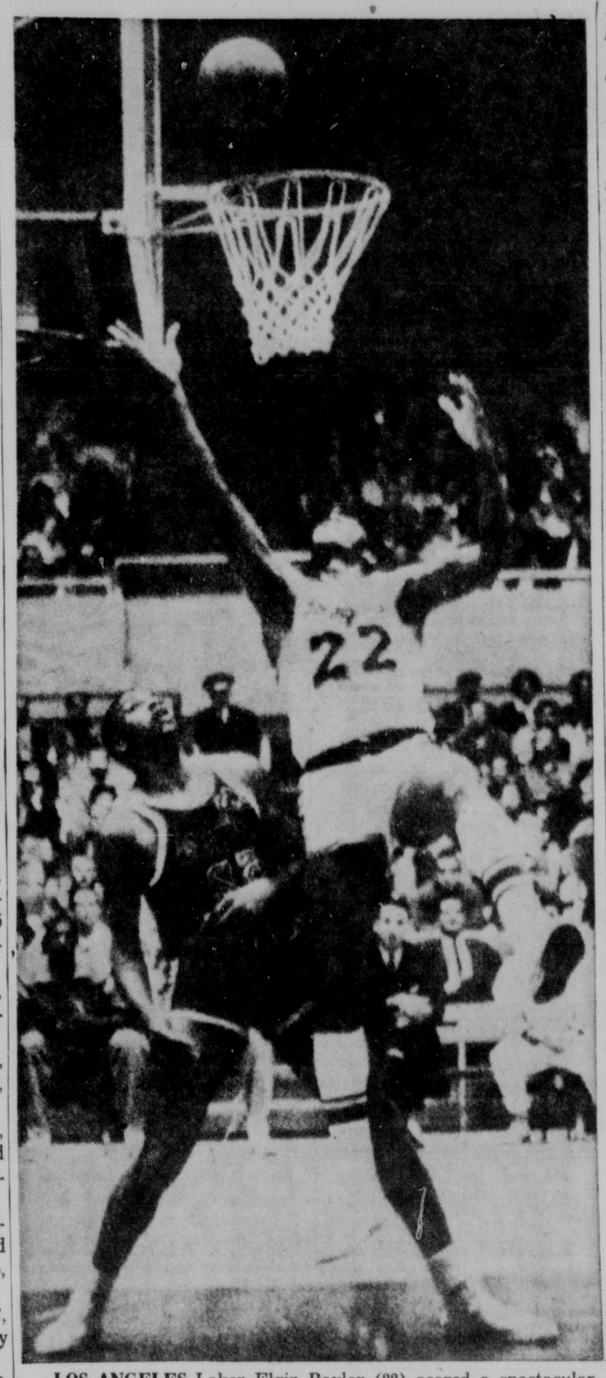
"I had hoped I could play out the season, but since I have to go I'm no different than any other guy who is called up by the Army."

"Elgin has six more games to play with us before he leaves," said Coach Fred Schaus. "We're not dead. We'll carry on just as we have until Elgin leaves, then make the necessary adjustments.

"Of course, we'll miss Baylor's 35 points a game, but his rebounding is even more important to us. He's been getting 20 a game, and we'll have to depend upon Howard Jolliff and the rookie, Wayne Yates."

Yates is 6-8, Jolliff 6-7.

Tom Hawkins will take over Baylor's forward job. He was captain of Notre Dame's basketball team in his senior year and has been with the Lakers two years. He is 6-5.



LOS ANGELES Laker Elgin Baylor (22) scored a spectacular basket late in the fourth period of the Laker-Chicago Packer game Monday at Los Angeles. Baylor shot over his head after he was fouled by Packer Horace Walker, (left) Baylor went on to make both foul shots. The Lakers won, 127-113. (UPI Telephoto)

Defense Of Jets Stops Pipers In 108-99 Victory

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Jets moved up a bit in the American Basketball League's Western Division race Monday night with a final period defense that held the Cleveland Pipers to a meager nine points.

Los Angeles trailed 91-89 going into the fourth quarter, then outscored the Pipers 19-9 for a 108-99 decision that moved them to within one-half game of first-place Kansas City. In Monday night's only other game, the Chicago Majors beat the Washington Tapers 97-87 at Muskegon, Mich.

After drawing even at 84-84 early in the final quarter, the Jets pulled in front on George Yardley's basket and never were headed. Yardley was high for Los Angeles with 27 points.

Chicago set the pace all the way against Washington but had to close with a rush to nail it down, outpointing the Tapers 11-2 in the last 5 minutes. High point men were Ron Zager of the Majors with 22 and Roger Kaiser of Washington with 18.

MSU Fullback Hikes Big 10 Points Lead

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan State fullback George Saimes of Canton, Ohio, boosted his all-games Big Ten scoring lead last week when he scored his team's only touchdown in a 7-6 defeat to Purdue.

Saimes has eight touchdowns for 48 points and is comfortably ahead of Joe Williams of Iowa and Dave Raimey and Bennie McRae of Michigan, all tied for second place with six TDS and 36 points.

Four Ohio State players are among the Big Ten scoring leaders.

Bog Ferguson and Paul Warfield are tied with two others for fifth with five TDs and 30 points, Dick Van Raaphorst is tied for 10th place with two others with 27 points on 15 conversions and four field goals, and Chuck Bryant is tied for 13th with two others with four TDs and 24 points.

Ohio Billboard Ban Effective Wednesday

After that date all illegal signs along the state's interstate highway system must be removed. If property owners fail to comply within 30 days, the signs will be removed by the state and bills sent to the property owners.

William Gross, deputy highway director in charge of right-of-way, reported that 104 court cases previously filed to seek removal of illegal signs under an old billboard law, would be dismissed.

New Attempts Slated To End Bus Strikes

By The Associated Press

Renewed attempts were scheduled at Charleston and Huntington today to try to end bus strikes.

Federal Mediator Howard Steele met yesterday with representatives of the Charleston Transit Co. and the Motor Coach Employes Union. Another session was set today.

Steele will confer tonight in Huntington with officials of the union and the Ohio Valley Bus Co. The Huntington bus strike began Oct. 4, the one at Charleston Oct. 21.

Drivers and mechanics in both cities are seeking higher pay and shorter working hours.

2 Escape Serious Injury In Crash Of Cargo Plane

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A four-engine DC-4 cargo plane crashed and burned near the Greater Cincinnati Airport today but the pilot and co-pilot escaped without any apparent serious injuries.

The pilot was identified as Calvin Geutier and the co - pilot as Richard Brethren, both apparently from Detroit.

The plane, owned by the Vantop Airlines of Detroit was en route from Detroit to Atlanta, Ga., with a load of automotive parts and airport officials said it was coming in for a routine landing.

Arven Saunders, manager of the airport, said the plane was coming in from the south for a landing on a lighted 8,600-foot runway, clipped off trees and then rolled into a wooded area.

It burst into flames and was destroyed.

Saunders said he did not know whether Geutier and Brethren climbed out of the plane or were thrown out. He said they went to a hospital for treatment but apparently were not hurt seriously.

Any Ohio Tax Hike Plans Seen Doomed

CINCINNATI (AP)—The chairman of the Ohio legislature's House Taxation Committee says any Democratic tax - raising proposal during the session beginning today is foredoomed.

Rep. Robert F. Reckman (R-Cincinnati) said Monday night he will not hear such a measure if gov. Michael V. Disalle proposes it.

Reckman conceded the administration is in financial difficulties, but said:

"When a budget is out of balance, there are two ways to look for a solution. Governor DiSalle's approach is to ask for increased taxes. My suggestion to him is that he begin looking for ways to cut the level of state spending."

Best Detroit Tiger winning streak for a pitcher was the six in a row turned in by Don Mossi in the spring. Late in the campaign he had a four - game losing streak.

Moore Outpoints Foe To Hold Feather Title

TOKYO (AP) — Featherweight champion Davey Moore, now a two-time winner in Japan, would like to defend his world title here a third time providing the price is right.

But before Japanese promoters sign him again, they'll probably have to find some other talent than Kazuo Takayama, the 25-year-old challenger Moore outpointed Monday night in a rough 15-round title bout.

But Takayama, defeated in August, 1960, by Moore in the champion's first Japan title fight, was not in the same class with the Springfield, Ohio, Negro despite a No. 3 ranking by the National Boxing Association.

The challenger, one-half pound lighter than Moore at 125½, made it clear from the opening bell he felt he needed a knockout to win and swung wildly time and again. Moore, a clever boxer, was troubled for awhile by the rushing but kept out of the way of any real damaging blows.

Moore picked up $50,000 for his fourth title defense. He said he'd be willing to fight Takayama again for a similar fee.

Celtics' Coach Starts 3-Game Suspension

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Red Auerbach starts a three-game suspension from the National Basketball Association tonight when his Boston Celtics play the Hawks in St. Louis.

The fiery coach of the defending NBA champions was set down Monday by NBA President Maurice Podoloff, who said the suspension would have taken effect sooner except that he was out of town over the weekend.

After a clash with a referee last Thursday in Philadelphia Auerbach was fined $200 and told by Podoloff that his next ejection would result in a suspension. Saturday night, he was tossed out of Boston's game at home with Philadelphia.

Sooners Seem On Way Back After 2 Straight Wins

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Has Oklahoma turned the corner from failure to success as the 1961 college football season nears its close?

Those who've seen the Sooners win their last two games, after losing the first five, think so, particularly after a crisp 7-0 victory last Saturday over heavily favored Missouri.

"You can definitely say that Oklahoma is on the way back," Army scout Bill Rowe said today. He has seen the Sooners play four times—two won and two lost—in preparation for Army's game at New York's Yankee Stadium against the Sooners this Saturday.

Those close to the Oklahoma scene feel that the NCAA probation imposed in 1960 hurt the recruiting program.

"Bud Wilkinson has done the best coaching job of his life this year because he's had to," OU publicist Harold Keith told the New York Football Writers Monday. "He's been forced to use kids who last year couldn't make the traveling squad, or just were not good enough to win a letter. And he's had to use them against opposition as fine as we've ever had in the Big Eight Conference."

Wilkinson has also been plagued by injury problems, and when these diminished, along with the emergence of Bob Page as a take-charge quarterback, his fortunes began to turn for the best. Against Army this week, he is expected to have tackle Bill White off the injury list. White is considered OU's best player.

The game also will be telecast (ABC) regionally.

Minnesota, hot on the trail for a repeat of its 1960 national championship, will have halfback Jim Cairns off the injury list for this week's Big Ten game against Purdue. Coach Darrell Royal of the top-ranked Texas Longhorns said he still didn't expect fullback Ray Poage to be ready for this week's game against Texas Christian.

Notre Dame, which meets Syracuse this week, may not have tackle Roger Wilke and fullback Dick Naab because of injuries but end Jim Kelly, out for the last two games, is expected to be ready. Orange center Bob Stem is in the questionable category.

Quarterback Bill Mrukowski and end Chuck Bryant of Ohio State were expected to be ready for the game against Oregon. Columbia, which can gain at least a share of the Ivy League title by beating Penn this week, is expected to have fullback Tom O'Connor in the lineup.

Findlay Gridders Lead Way On Mid-Ohio Squad

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The Mid-Ohio League all-star football team, selected by the loop's coaches, is divided into offensive and defensive units, and league champion Findlay placed four men on each.

Oilers on the offensive squad are halfback Odell Barry, end Ted Lenear and tackles Jerry Wasserman and Don Niederhauser. Findlay players making the defensive squad are end Bill Hughes, halfback Steve McGee, and linebackers Doug Meek and Tony Palmieri.

Barry was a unanimous choice along with two others named to the offensive unit — guard Dan Barker of Ohio Northern and end Martin Baumhower of Defiance.

Bluffton's Bill Lape made the team for the third time as right half on offense. Others repeating from last year's team are quarterback Tom Grzywinski of Defiance, tackle Ralph Reichenbach and middle guard Joe Steiner, both of Bluffton, and linebacker Dan Baker of Defiance—all but Grzywinski on the defensive unit.

Others named to the offensive team are center Don Roby of Ashland, guard Dave Shook of Defiance and fullback Mike Goings of Bluffton. Other defensive members are Wilmington end Lowell Bernardino, Ohio Northern tackle Jerry Hinsee, Bluffton linebacker Ed Smoker and Ohio Northern halfback Floyd Seitz.

Third baseman Clete Boyer of the Yankees led the team in sacrifice flies last season with eight.

Flips In 39 To Pace Lakers

Highly-Paid Elgin To Draw $85-Per-Month As Soldier

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Elgin Baylor reports to Fort Lewis, Wash., as an Army medical corpsman Nov. 26 he will go off salary as a $50,000-a-year Los Angeles Laker basketball star and draw $85-a-month from Uncle Sam.

Baylor, 26, signed a five-year personal services contract with Laker owner Robert E. Short this year, calling for $250,000. General Manager Louis R. Mohs said a new contract, probably for the same duration and same terms, will be negotiated when Baylor completes his year of service.

Baylor was the high scorer with 39 points Monday night as the Lakers beat the Chicago Packers, 127-113, and extended their lead in the Western division of the National Basketball League race. The Lakers now are 10-2. It was the ninth loss in 11 games for the Packers, who were led by Walt Bellamy's 30 points.

Baylor was getting his affairs in shape today, for he plays his last game at home Wednesday. He recently bought a home here.

"I've been with this club for four years and I thought this was the year we had a chance for the championship," says Baylor.

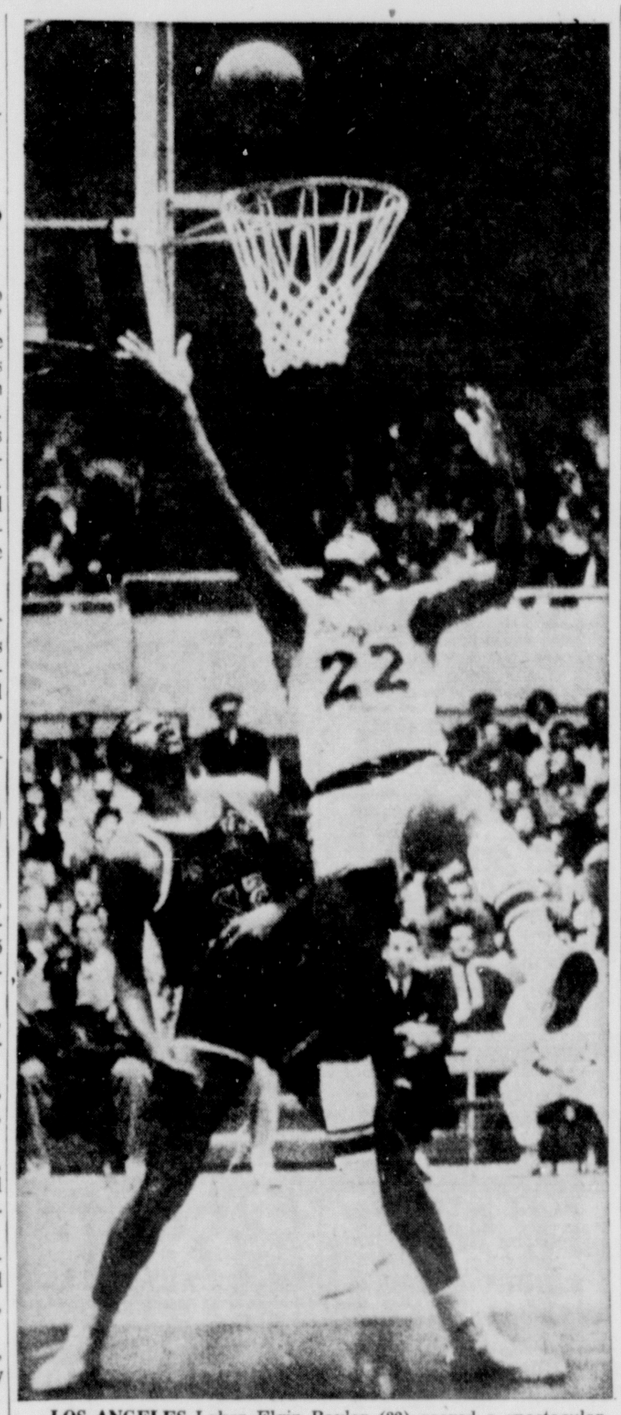
"I had hoped I could play out the season, but since I have to go I'm no different than any other guy who is called up by the Army."

"Elgin has six more games to play with us before he leaves," said Coach Fred Schaus. "We're not dead. We'll carry on just as we have until Elgin leaves, then make the necessary adjustments.

"Of course, we'll miss Baylor's 35 points a game, but his rebounding is even more important to us. He's been getting 20 a game, and we'll have to depend upon Howard Jolliff and the rookie, Wayne Yates."

Yates is 6-8, Jolliff 6-7.

Tom Hawkins will take over Baylor's forward job. He was captain of Notre Dame's basketball team in his senior year and has been with the Lakers two years. He is 6-5.



LOS ANGELES Laker Elgin Baylor (22) scored a spectacular basket late in the fourth period of the Laker-Chicago Packer game Monday at Los Angeles. Baylor shot over his head after he was fouled by Packer Horace Walker, (left) Baylor went on to make both foul shots. The Lakers won, 127-113. (UPI Telephoto)

Defense Of Jets Stops Pipers In 108-99 Victory

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Jets moved up a bit in the American Basketball League's Western Division race Monday night with a final period defense that held the Cleveland Pipers to a meager nine points.

Los Angeles trailed 91-89 going into the fourth quarter, then outscored the Pipers 19-9 for a 108-99 decision that moved them to within one-half game of first-place Kansas City. In Monday night's only other game, the Chicago Majors beat the Washington Tapers 97-87 at Muskegon, Mich.

After drawing even at 84-84 early in the final quarter, the Jets pulled in front on George Yardley's basket and never were headed. Yardley was high for Los Angeles with 27 points.

Chicago set the pace all the way against Washington but had to close with a rush to nail it down, outpointing the Tapers 11-2 in the last 5 minutes. High point men were Ron Zager of the Majors with 22 and Roger Kaiser of Washington with 18.

MSU Fullback Hikes Big 10 Points Lead

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan State fullback George Saimes of Canton, Ohio, boosted his all-games Big Ten scoring lead last week when he scored his team's only touchdown in a 7-6 defeat to Purdue.

Saimes has eight touchdowns for 48 points and is comfortably ahead of Joe Williams of Iowa and Dave Raimey and Bennie McRae of Michigan, all tied for second place with six TDS and 36 points.

Four Ohio State players are among the Big Ten scoring leaders.

Bog Ferguson and Paul Warfield are tied with two others for fifth with five TDs and 30 points, Dick Van Raaphorst is tied for 10th place with two others with 27 points on 15 conversions and four field goals, and Chuck Bryant is tied for 13th with two others with four TDs and 24 points.

Ohio Billboard Ban Effective Wednesday

After that date all illegal signs along the state's interstate highway system must be removed. If property owners fail to comply within 30 days, the signs will be removed by the state and bills sent to the property owners.

William Gross, deputy highway director in charge of right-of-way, reported that 104 court cases previously filed to seek removal of illegal signs under an old billboard law, would be dismissed.

Drivers and mechanics in both cities are seeking higher pay and shorter working hours.

'Mystery' Man In Scotland Sends Gifts For 19 Years

The driver of a passing automobile swerved but hit the child and killed him. The driver carried the boy into the house and collapsed.

A doctor treated Robbie's parents and the motorist for shock. Then the driver left. He didn't tell the Wilsons his name. They knew only that he lived in England, in the city of Sunderland.

A year later, on Edna's next birthday, a huge parcel arrived for the girl. It was a rocking horse. There was no sender's name. The only clue was the postmark: Sunderland.

Each year since Edna has received an expensive birthday present from Sunderland. As she grew older the gifts became more sophisticated — a beauty set, French perfume, cosmetics.

A few weeks ago Edna married and went to live in an Edinburgh suburb. The family has no idea how the man in Sunderland found out, but he sent a wedding present.
